

Senate Gives Approval to Safety Bill

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sponsors of a landmark safety bill passed by the Senate say the measure will become law in spite of a Republican threat to weaken it in the House.

The bill was sent to the House after the Senate's 82-3 passage Tuesday. House committee action is expected before the end of the current ramp session.

The bill establishes the first national program in history designed to improve health and safety conditions for 80 million American workers.

The legislation is tied to reducing the 14,500 deaths, 2.2 million injuries and $1.5 billion in lost wages which occur annually in industry.

The Senate measure directs the secretary of labor to draw up within two years standards covering hazards that may cause death, injury and occupational diseases which shorten lives.

Labor Department inspectors then would determine where violations are taking place.

An employer could appeal violation citations to a three-member commission named by the president.

The commission proceedings could be appealed to the federal courts.

The commission plan was included by President Nixon in his original bill. Its adoption Tuesday by a 43-38 vote represented his one victory in a two-day Senate debate.

In general, the Senate measure followed the version promoted by the AFL-CIO and sponsored by Democratic liberals.

The same fight is expected to be repeated in the House, where Republicans and Southern Democratic conservatives plan to push the Nixon substitute.

They say the measure now gives too much power to the labor secretary and allows for an arbitrary closing of plants.

The Senate bill permits any state to fix new standards and enforce them if its program were held to be at least as effective as that of the federal government.

The bill also provides for a National Institute of Safety and Health to conduct research and the establishment of a 15-member commission to study the adequacy of present workmen's compensation laws.

trying to carry out a strategy of gradual economic recovery.

A spokesman for President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers said the decline was a "negative" development but not surprising in view of the auto strike.

But the Federal Reserve Board said it blamed "further curtailments in output of consumer durable goods other than autos, business and defense equipment and industrial materials."

Since early in the year, Nixon administration economists have predicted the economy would pick up in the fall. In recent weeks, some have said the up-

Time Nearing to Sign for Medicare

A very important date is near for some area residents over age 65, stated Otis A. Blackwood, manager of the local social security office. This date, January 1, is the beginning of a three month "General Enrollment Period" provided for under the Social Security Medicare Law. A person who is eligible but has never enrolled in part "B" of Medicare can sign up during this "open" period which ends March 31, Mr. Blackwood stated. Medical coverage will be effective the following July 1.

Part "B" of Medicare or medical insurance helps pay for doctor bills, diagnostic tests, and certain other medical expenses incurred outside the hospital Mr. Blackwood added.

This will be the last chance to enroll for those people born between October 1, 1902 and September 30, 1903, the manager emphasized. Those born before October 1, 1902 and who never enrolled are not eligible.

A person who enrolls for part "B" during the "open" period will have to pay a slightly higher rate if he has had an earlier opportunity to sign up.

Get Award in Technology

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Dr. Lee A. DuBridge, former science adviser to President Nixon, is this year's recipient of the highest honor given by the California Institute of Technology.

DuBridge, president of Caltech from 1946 until 1968 when he became the President's science adviser, received the Robert Andrews Millikan Award on Tuesday. He left his federal post in August.

turn is already at hand.

Although not considered the broadest measure of the economy's performance, industrial production is a key indicator in gauging output.

In October, the index fell to 162.3 of the 1957-59 average, the base period for which it is figured. It was the lowest index figure since January 1968. September's index stood at 166.1.

Sugar Bowl Is Passing Up Arkansas

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Eighth-ranked Tennessee will get a Sugar Bowl invitation if the Volunteers defeat Kentucky Saturday, a source close to the Sugar Bowl told The Associated Press Tuesday.

Tenth-ranked Air Force accepted an invitation last Monday to fill the other half of the Jan. 1 schedule.

Tennessee, whose only setback was a 35-23 decision to powerful Auburn early in the season, will have to play Vanderbilt and UCLA after meeting Kentucky, but will be eligible to accept a bowl bid at 6 p.m. EST Saturday.

In addition to the Tennessee-Kentucky game, the Sugar Bowl will have representative at the Notre Dame-Louisiana State and Air Force-Colorado games.

The Sugar Bowl source, who asked not to be identified, also said Saturday that sixth-ranked Arkansas and ninth-ranked Arizona State have been eliminated from consideration for the game here.

This would leave only top-ranked Texas, second-ranked Notre Dame and seventh-ranked LSU as possible Sugar Bowl participants since other teams in the Top Ten are already comto feel he did much of the routine Senate work during the last two years while Kennedy was tied up in a re-election battle and the aftermath of the Chapquiddick incident.

A successful Byrd challenge would give the whip post to a senator who voted with Southerners on civil rights legislation and perhaps would also kill Kennedy's hopes for national leadership.

As a result, Kennedy has been on the Senate floor as much as Byrd since Congress reconvened Monday.

Byrd said in an interview he has made no decision to challenge Kennedy.

"It is too early," he said. "I'm putting the work of this session first."

As to the evident maneuvering with Kennedy to do favors that endear one to fellow senators, Byrd said, "I'm just doing what I have been doing all along."

When Kennedy was asked about a possible contest, he said, "I will run; I intend to win."

In 1969, he received support from 31 of the 57 Democratic senators, and an aide indicated he expects backing now from at least that many, if not a few more.

possibility of asking the assembly to recess if his legislation is not ready, but he said he did not think a recess would be necessary.

Bumpers said he was asking department heads for their recommendations on possible legislation. Some already have drafted bills for introduction in the legislature and he has asked them to submit the measures to him, Bumpers said.

The governor-elect said members of his staff were at work on major legislation, including a merit system for state employees. Bumpers also said he planned to propose salary increases for some department heads, including Dr. Max Milam, who earned $18,000 a year as director of the state Administration Department.

Bumpers said the state should be aware that appropriate salaries must be paid for qualified personnel.

Bumpers met with newsmen after lunching with Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller at the Governor's Mansion to discuss the change in administrations.

Bumpers said the meeting was "very cordial, friendly, relaxed," and said Rockefeller had promised his full cooperation during the transition period. He said Rockefeller did not bring to his attention any state problem of which he was not already aware.

He said he and Rockefeller talked at length about prison problems, including the need for adding parole officers in an effort to cut down on the number of convicts who return to the prison after having been released.

Bumpers said a report on the penitentiary was being prepared for him. He also said he planned to visit the prisons before taking office.

The governor-elect said some state programs could operate at their current levels in the next biennium, but that some, such as in education, would have to be increased.

Officer to Be Called in Calley Trial

By KATHRYN JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — A former artillery officer attached to Lt. William L. Calley's company the day it swept through the south Vietnamese village of My Lai says he saw bodies on village trails several hours after the sweep.

The officer, Roger Alaux Jr., testified for the prosecution Tuesday as it began presenting the government's case against Calley, being court-martialed on charges he murdered 102 civilians the day of the sweep, March 16, 1968.

Alaux, now a student at Arizona State University, said that about three hours after helicopters landed Calley's platoon at My Lai he saw a group of bodies on a north-south village trail and a child's body on an east-west trail.

Apparently attempting to forestall any suggestion that the Vietnamese were killed by artillery shells or in the crossfire of battle, Capt. Aubrey Daniel III, the Army prosecutor, asked Alaux whether he saw evidence of artillery.

"The direct evidence of artillery was south of the village in the rice paddy," Alaux said. He added that to the best of his knowledge the platoon received no enemy fire that day.

Before testimony began, the military judge, Col. Reid W. Kennedy, asked the 27-year-old Calley how he pleaded.

"I plead not guilty," he said.

If convicted, the 5-foot-3 infantry lieutenant could be sentenced to death by a firing squad or hanging, or be sentenced to life imprisonment.

In his opening statement, the prosecutor told the jury of six officers that the government intends to prove that Calley ordered his platoon at My Lai, "Kill 'em, waste 'em," and then executed 102 unresisting and unarmed men, women and children.

HOUSE PLANS

Gesell's order.

But Chairman Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., advised all members of the House by letter today that he also is going to revise and reissue the report. He said he will then ask the House to pass a resolution prohibiting the courts or anyone else from interfering with its public printing.

The chairman accused Gesell of supervising, censoring and restricting the report in violation of legislative powers the Constitution gives exclusively to Congress, not the courts.

Gesell ruled the report attempts to "black list" the named speakers from further campus appearances and thus violates their constitutional free speech rights.

The report contends the campus speaking circuit is a significant source of financing "for the promoters of disorderly and revolutionary activities among students."

It is based on a survey of 95 colleges that shows the 65 speakers were paid $108,000 for 155 speeches over the past two years.

Returning to Private Practice

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — Green Beret Capt. Jeffrey MacDonald, cleared recently by the Army of murder charges in the deaths of his wife and two daughters, says he plans to practice medicine in California when released from service in two weeks.

He told a newsmen Tuesday he has accepted a position as a physician in the emergency room of a Long Beach hospital. MacDonald said he plans to Prayer was led by Bro. Gerald Trussell. Scouts from Troop 92 led in the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. Mr. Sisson welcomed all the teachers and parents to the meeting and then introduced the new vice president, J. W. Rowe and new secretary, Mrs. I. W. Townsend, who read the minutes from the last meeting and from the executive board meeting and gave the financial report.

Several things were brought up as a project for the P.T.A. Whitmarsh gave some interesting facts about the new equipment that is in each room, then gave instructions how the parents would visit their child's class room for ten minutes.

Mrs. Bill Gunter, Mrs. Tom Waters, Mrs. J. W. Rowe, Mrs. Harley Sisson and Sam Cooper worked with the new membership cards that are printed with a red bobcat and lettering on white background and signed by the president. There are some membership cards left and to obtain your card contact Mr. Whitmarsh or any of the faculty at high school.

Refreshments of coffee and cookies were served by Mrs. Burch and staff and cups for the coffee were furnished by the Hope Band.

Rice Bag Party For Bride-Elect
Miss Martha Burton Allison, bride-elect of David Parnell, was the honoree at a rice bag party at the David Waddle home on the Rosston Highway last Saturday afternoon, November 7.

Miss Allison was presented a personal gift of silver and a yellow mum corsage by the hostesses Mrs. David Waddle, Mrs. Calvin Caldwell, and Mrs. McDowell Turner.

Bronze, red, and yellow mums were used in the flower arrangement on the serving table. Refreshments included cookies, nuts, and cranberry punch served from a crystal and silver bowl.

Out of town guests included Miss Becky Richmond of Plaquemine, La.; Miss Debbie Anderson and Miss Isabel Lutken of Baton Rouge; Miss Lynn Russell of Little Rock; Mrs. Joseph H. Purvis of Shreveport.

Mrs. Roy Allison, the bride-elect's mother, was also a guest.

Party For Bride-elect

Build Up Resistance To Ward Off Colds

Television and Radio

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Critic

NEW YORK (AP) — Two hours on television is a long, long time for drama, but "Hamlet" starring Richard Chamberlain on NBC Tuesday night was well worth wide and steadfast audience attention.

The production accomplishes several things besides providing the retired hero of all those Dr. Kildare episodes with a bold and fascinating excursion into classic theater.

Chamberlain tested himself as the melancholy Dane with an English provincial troupe two summers ago, and on the basis of warm notices then, dared this filming alongside such distinguished players as Sir John Gielgud, Sir Michael Redgrave, Margaret Leighton and Richard Johnson.

Instead of an introverted, tormented avenger, Chamberlain makes Hamlet into a highly emotional figure, demented as much as he is deliberately bent on retribution. If at times this leads to unfamiliar interpretation of famous lines, by that much does Shakespearean meaning enlarge.

In other characterizations, Director Peter Wood similarly shifts from the predictable. So Polonius in the hands of Sir Michael is a smug burgher rather than some prating dotard; Miss Leighton's Gertrude becomes distant chaste; and Claudius is interpreted in a beautifully done confessional scene as a victim of passion more than a deep villain. As he did in the Richard Burton stage version, Sir John Gielgud serves as the mellifluous voice of the slain king.

Possibly because of the opportunity for extravagant costuming, "Hamlet" is transferred from ancient Elsinore into a Napoleonic Era setting, although at moments the exaggerated military hats and long rifles tinge the proceedings with caricature.

Chamberlain early changes from black garb into a wardrobe of lapelled and colorful grandeur, a salutary flourish to the concept of Producer George LeMaire.

In vignette assignments, Clarian Madden is introduced as a sweetly put-upon Ophelia, with her obligatory drowning scene blessedly omitted. She is about as convincing in the part as any girl can be. And Norman Rossington distills the mocking philosophy of the gravedigger in a scene abbreviated just a bit regrettably.

The adaptation was prepared by John Barton, who deserves extra thanks for deleting that line about something being rotten in the state of Denmark. In this "Hamlet" all is vibrantly satisfactory.

is and the individual's natural resistance. We can't do much about the many viruses that cause respiratory illnesses, but we can do something about the body's susceptibility.

You can improve your resistance by maintaining optimal health. This means proper nutrition and exercise, avoiding excessive fatigue, getting adequate sleep and eliminating unhealthy habits, such as cigarette smoking.

Cigarette smoke contains poisons and irritants that damage the delicate lining in the nose and respiratory passages, causing them to be more easily infected. So you can decrease your chances of getting an infection by not smoking. Excessive air pollution has similar effects and adds to the problem of cigarette smoke.

No special diets will prevent colds, but a debilitated person or someone with malnutrition usually is more prone to infections. Just eat a good well-balanced diet.

As long as your diet is adequate, and particularly if you don't use excessive amounts of alcohol or smoke, you probably won't need vitamins. Opinion varies on the value of vitamin C in preventing colds. Some doctors think it is useful. It can't cause any harm since excess amounts are eliminated. Vitamin C cannot be stored in the body, so you need a new supply each day. It is easily destroyed and perhaps cigarette smoking is one way of doing it. Personally, I have been pleased with the use of vitamin C and see no harm in taking a daily tablet. You can buy them without a prescription. Use vitamin C (ascorbic acid) 500-milligram-size tablets.

One of the most effective ways of decreasing the number of colds is to stay away from people—with or without colds. The more exposure to people, the more likely you will get a cold. This is why parents of schoolchildren often have more colds than nonparents. Avoiding people won't solve the whole problem but it can minimize the danger.

Attempts to sterilize the air or prevent transmission by infected droplets from sneezing and coughing have been disappointing. Despite this, it is worth-while to stay more than three feet away from a person who is coughing or sneezing. This is the distance the infected droplets usually travel during a sneeze or cough. Customary hygiene in coughing, sneezing and disposing of used tissues may not help much but any effect is better than none. The same can be said about handling dishes, toys and other articles used by sick people.

In short, you can't really prevent all colds but you can reduce your chances of having as many or as severe infections by cultivating good living habits.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Please describe impotence.

Dear Reader: Failure to rise to expectations.

The delegates from Hope High School Student Council returned from the Southern Association of Student Councils held in Houma, Louisiana, last week. The delegates were Melissa Mohon, Sandra McFarland, Rebecca Stuart, Sandy Flowers, Tommy Frazier, and Mike Huckabee. Transportation to the convention was furnished by the Hope Auto Company with a 1971 Ford Station Wagon.

Melissa Mohon gave a report of the project committee consisting of five schools from the Southern Association. The display of the work by the Hope High Student Council was highly complimented by the convention and guest speakers. Tommy Frazier and Mike Huckabee were leaders of a discussion group on the topic of National Issues.

WHAT IS A BRAIN-INJURED CHILD?

Dear Helen:

Enclosed is a description I hope you find room to print. It tells so much about the brain-injured, or hyper-kinetic child. Could you also mention that anyone wanting information about this sort of child may write or call the Association for Children with Learning Disabilities. The New Jersey address is 16 Lincoln Street, East Orange, New Jersey, 07017. —MOTHER

(And a California address is The California Association for Neurologically Handicapped Children, P.O. Box 604, Main Office, Los Angeles, California.) What is a brain-damaged child?

They come in assorted sizes, shapes and colors. Through no fault of their own, they come into the world with less than the average child has, to work a hundred times harder and with less opportunities than most children.

They are easy to pick out in the playground for they are the ones that run the fastest, laugh the loudest, and who are the most likely to have a tantrum when all the swings are taken.

They are as explosive as an atom bomb, have the drive of a locomotive, the stamina of a horse, and are practically indestructible.

They are as explosive as an atom bomb, have the drive of a locomotive, the stamina of a horse, and are practically indestructible.

They are the target for all the bullies, barely tolerated by the neighbors, and fear themselves most of all. You can find them in all walks of life and in every school.

A bundle of unpredictability, the B.I. child can raise a mother's hopes to the highest and in two minutes flat dash them to despair. And just when you think you can't go on, they come to you with a trust and love so pure you know you can't give up.

These are children bewildered by their inability, tormented by frustration, trying to fit into a world that sets them apart.

For the parents, it's the toughest test in survival, never daring to look into the future at where they are going. Instead, you must look back in the past tomorrow.

What is a Brain-Injured Child? Well, if you leave off the first two words, you will find it's just a child. And what is a child?

Why it's a human being, of course! — ROSLYN SNYDER

NOTE TO READERS:

These hyper-active children can be helped tremendously at special treatment centers throughout the United States. But too often parents (and others) mistake brain injury for "pure cussedness." A doctor should always be consulted if tantrums and destructiveness persist beyond when you feel is normal. — H.

"HEARING TESTS SET FOR HEMPSTEAD COUNTY AREA"

Free Electronic hearing tests will be given in Hope on Friday, November 20. Anyone that has trouble hearing or understanding is welcome to come for a free test using the latest electronic equipment to determine his or her particular degree of hearing loss.

Diagrams showing how the ear works and some of the causes of hearing loss will be available. Visitors can also see how a simple operation on the ear has helped thousands of people to hear again and how the latest electronic developments are helping thousands more.

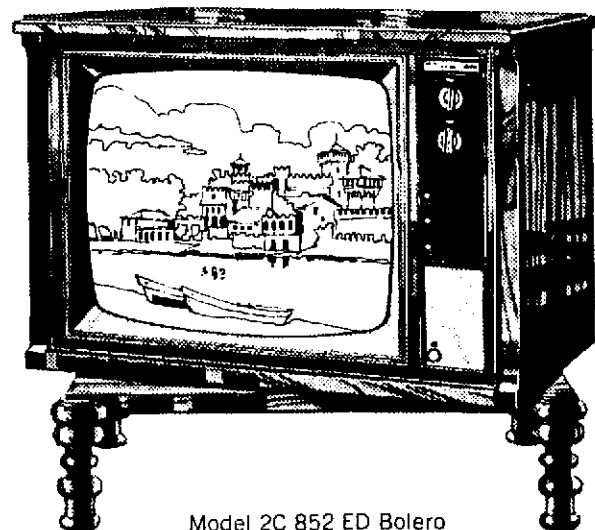

Everyone should have a hearing test at least once a year if they have any trouble hearing clearly. Even people now wearing a hearing aid or those that have been told that nothing could be done for them should have a hearing test and should find out about the latest methods of hearing correction.

The free hearing tests in Hope will be held at Bill Ellis Insurance Office, 217 S. Main on Friday, November 20 from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m.

Mr. Tom Purvis will conduct the tests through the courtesy of the Beltone Hearing Service, 516 Wood Street, (across from the post office), Texarkana, Arkansas.

If you cannot get to Hope for your free test, you may come to the Texarkana office, Monday through Friday, from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M., and Saturdays, from 9 A.M. to 1 P.M.

Picks Porks, Buckeyes, Irish to Win

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Roll out the crystal balls, set up the ouija boards, flip the proverbial coin.

That's the kind of weekend it promises to be for college football forecasters as the season heads down the stretch with the top teams shooting for post-season bowl berths and conference championships.

Can Michigan do it again to Ohio State? Can Louisiana State get revenge against Notre Dame, a team it's never played before? Can Texas Tech throw a monkey wrench into the predicted Texas-Arkansas Southwest Conference dogfight? Stay tuned.

Michigan at Ohio State—Mrs. Anne Hayes of Columbus, Ohio, wrote a letter recently to a friend who lives on Michigan Boulevard in Chicago. Mrs. Hayes penciled on the envelope: "Ugh! Can't you change streets?"

Last year, Mrs. Hayes recalled: "When our son finished high school, I told him, 'Steve, I'll pack your bags and we'll send you to any college in the country ... except one. If you pick Michigan, I'll throw you out on the sidewalk ... and your bags after you!'"

Mrs. Hayes' husband is Woody, the Ohio State coach, and Woody is out for revenge after last year's 24-12 crusher.

It says here that Ohio State's Rex Kern will return to his 1968-9 brilliance and the battle of the unbeaten will go to ... Ohio State.

Louisiana State at Notre Dame—Notre Dame's sudden desire to end a 45-year bowl ban cost LSU a post-season trip of its own last season, but both teams will wind up in a bowl this year, with the Cotton Bowl rooting heavily for ... Notre Dame.

Arkansas at Texas Tech—Red Raiders have a shot at the Southwest Conference title, one of the best-kept secrets of the year. If they beat Arkansas and Arkansas, in turn, beats Texas, that's it. I've got a secret, too, Arkansas.

Southern California vs. UCLA —No bowl at stake this time, USC.

Colorado at Air Force—Will the Falcons suffer a letdown after (1) beating Stanford and (2) accepting a Sugar Bowl bid? Upset special of the light says ... Colorado.

Oklahoma at Nebraska—Cornhuskers are in the Orange Bowl, but need a win or tie to sew up the Big Eight title, Nebraska.

New Mexico at Arizona State —This one's for the championship of the Western Athletic Conference. Lobos have come a long way but not this far. Arizona State.

Yale at Harvard—It's the final game for John Yovincis, Harvard's winningest coach. No one likes to go out a loser, but ... Yale.

Stanford at California—Rose Bowl tune-up, Stanford.

Lehigh at Lafayette—The 106th episode of college football's most played series. Lafayette.

Ali Thinks Frazier Knows He Is Champ

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — "I imagine it is a funny feeling to them, fighting for the title, as they call it," says Muhammad Ali of tonight's heavyweight championship bout in Detroit between champion Joe Frazier and Bob Foster.

"In the back of his mind, Frazier knows I'm the real champion," Ali said after his arrival Tuesday to promote and watch in Atlanta the closed circuit telecast of the fight.

The Frazier-Foster winner probably will get a multimillion-dollar shot at Ali early next year if the former undefeated champion defeats Oscar Bonavena in New York on Dec. 7.

Frazier Is Favored Over Foster

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
DETROIT (AP)—Joe Frazier, a king fighting for universal acceptance, and Bob Foster, a king who has turned his back on the class he rules, meet tonight for the heavyweight championship of the world.

The scheduled 15-round fight is set for 10:30 p.m., EST, at Cobo Arena and will follow, as part of a closed-circuit television doubleheader, a scheduled 10-rounder between heavyweights George Foreman and Boone Kirkman in New York's Madison Square Garden.

Although Frazier is the heavyweight champion and unbeaten in 25 pro bouts, he fights in the shadow of Muhammad Ali, also known as Cassius Clay.

So, if Frazier beats Foster—he is the 5-1 favorite—it will be another step toward stamping out the shadow of Ali because it will bring closer to realization a Frazier-Ali fight.

As for Foster, he has said no matter what happens in the Frazier fight he will not defend his light heavyweight championship again.

Foster, who was expected to weigh from 185 to 190 pounds for tonight's fight, says he cannot make the light heavyweight limit of 175 any more. It also is possible for a fighter to make more money as a heavyweight contender or trial horse than as the light heavyweight champion.

A crowd of about 15,000 which would mean a gate of $300,000 is expected at the $1,500-seat Cobo Arena to watch Foster try to become the first light heavyweight champion to win the heavyweight title. Seven previous light heavy kings tried unsuccessfully a total of nine times.

The closed-circuit telecast will be seen in 110 locations, with a seating capacity of 500,000, in 91 cities in the United States and Canada. The fights also will be beamed to 27 countries in Europe, Africa, South America, Central America, Asia and the South Pacific.

Frazier has been guaranteed $150,000 against 40 per cent of all receipts. Foster will get 22½ per cent.

No matter what Frazier makes on this fight it will be peanuts compared to what he would get for fighting Ali. That would be the most lucrative fight in history, with predictions of a $10 million gross.

If everything goes right Frazier and Ali would probably fight in February. Ali fights Oscar Bonavena in December and the U.S. Supreme Court isn't expected to act until at least March on an appeal of Ali's conviction of refusing induction into the Army—a conviction that carried with it a five-year prison sentence and led to his being stripped of the heavyweight title.

Tonight's fight will off a contrast in styles. Frazier, from Philadelphia, is a boring style of fighter who likes to work first on the body and is extremely dangerous when he has his opponent on the ropes or in a corner. Foster, of Washington, is a standup boxer with a good left hook and a tremendous right hand.

The 26-year-old Frazier will outweigh Foster by about 15 to 20 pounds, including his beard which he will not have to shave off, but the 31-year-old Foster at 6-feet-3½ is 4½ inches taller than Frazier and has an edge of 5½ inches in reach.

"I don't see where I can miss once I'm under his arms," says Frazier who usually fights at a height and reach disadvantage.

In his 25 victories, Frazier has scored 22 knockouts, including the one of Jimmy Ellis when he won the championship in his last fight in February.

Hogs Sweep Awards in Conference

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Bill McClard doesn't follow the practice pattern set by kicking specialists that have preceded him at Arkansas, but nobody is trying to change him.

McClard was named The Associated Press' offensive player of the week in the Southwest Conference after kicking three field goals, including a record-breaking 60-yarder, in Arkansas' 36-3 victory over SMU.

Arkansas cornerback David Hogue, who was filling in for the injured Jerry Moore, intercepted three passes and gave the Razorbacks a sweep of the weekly awards by being named defensive player of the week.

"He (McClard) kicks more than any kicker that has preceded him because he feels it helps him and it doesn't seem to sap his leg," said Coach Mervin Johnson. "He also kicks more in practice later in the week than most players."

Johnson said McClard kicks about 50 times on Monday and boots as many as 40 on Thursday, and about 15 or more extra points on Friday.

McClard, who has kicked 46 of 47 extra points and nine of 14 field goals this year, is the nation's top scoring kicker with 73 points.

His 60-yard field goal, which hit the cross bar and bounced over, cracked the NCAA record of 59 yards, set by Mississippi's Cloyce Hinton last year.

McClard pleaded with Coach Frank Broyles for the chance to try the 60-yarder. Johnson intervened on McClard's behalf.

"One reason I wanted to let him try it was because in warm-ups Bill had kicked four out of five from 62 yards," Johnson said.

"I kicked it right on the laces and any kicker will tell you kicking on the laces costs you three or four yards," McClard said. "I really met the ball better on the second field goal but I missed. Everything was just right except it was so cold," McClard said. "Gus (Rusher) did a tremendous job of getting the ball down and the offensive line gave me all the time in the world."

McClard said 65 yards for a field goal is not unreasonable "with ideal conditions."

McClard, a 195-pound junior from Norman, Okla., holds the Oklahoma high school record of 56 yards. He kicked what was an Arkansas record 53-yard field goal against Wichita State earlier this year.

"He's got fine ability and his form is as good as anyone I've ever seen," Johnson said. "His only problem is that he gets careless once in a while. That's what happened on the extra point he missed earlier in the year."

McClard's 86 extra points is a conference record and his 16 career field goals is an Arkansas record. He is eight points shy of the NCAA one season kick scoring record of 81 points set by Princeton's Charlie Gogolak in 1955.

20 pounds, including his beard which he will not have to shave off, but the 31-year-old Foster at 6-feet-3½ is 4½ inches taller than Frazier and has an edge of 5½ inches in reach.

"I don't see where I can miss once I'm under his arms," says Frazier who usually fights at a height and reach disadvantage.

In his 25 victories, Frazier has scored 22 knockouts, including the one of Jimmy Ellis when he won the championship in his last fight in February.

Besides the history of a light heavyweight champion never winning the heavyweight title, Foster's record also is against him. Three of his four losses in 45 fights have been to heavyweights.

Foster points out that he was not properly conditioned for those fights and that a loss to Zora Folley in 1965 was his last defeat.

Foster has scored 35 knockouts in his 41 victories including a four-round triumph over Dick Tiger that brought him the light heavy title in 1968.

Scoring for the fight will be under the 10-point must system, with 10 points to the winner of a round, nine or less to the loser and 10 each for an even round. The three-knockdown rule has been waived and a fighter on the floor at the bell must beat the count which will continue.

Grand Jury to Hear More Witnesses

By CHARLES R. HORNICK
CLEVELAND (AP) — A special federal grand jury was expected to hear from out-of-town witnesses today in the third day of its investigation into affairs of the National Football League.

Except for Tom Fears, who recently was fired as coach of the New Orleans Saints, the jury has spent the first two days hearing testimony from representatives of the Cleveland Browns' front office and coaching staff.

The investigation is being conducted under strict secrecy by the Cleveland office of the U.S. Justice Department's Antitrust Division, but it was reported that today's witnesses would include representatives of the St. Louis Cardinals and Bernie Parrish, a former member of the Browns' defensive backfield.

Parrish, now an official of the Teamsters Union in St. Louis, and Walter Beach, another former Browns defensive back, claimed they were blackballed by other NFL teams after being released on waivers by the Browns. Beach, a student at Yale Law School, also is expected to appear before the grand jury.

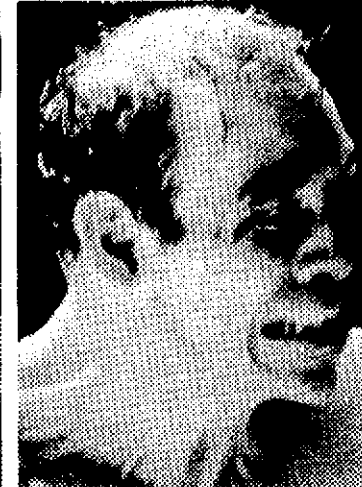

Witnesses have indicated in answer to newsmen's questions that the jury has concentrated on player-owner relations. It was learned Tuesday that the jury is looking for possible violations of the Sherman Antitrust Act. Such violations could bring criminal indictments.

The Sherman Act not only provides penalties for restraint of trade, but also restraint of services—in the case of sports, the services of players.

Two members of the Browns' coaching staff—offensive coach Nick Skorich and defensive backfield coach Howard Brinker—said they were asked by the

Johnny Bench Gets Nat'l MVP Award

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Bench of the Cincinnati Reds, the 22-year-old slugging king of the major leagues, added another crown today when he became the youngest player ever to win a Most Valuable Player Award.

Bench, who led the majors in home runs with 45 and runs batted in with 148 while leading the Reds to the National League pennant, outdistanced a field that included two other strong Cincinnati candidates in the balloting by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

The young, strong catcher received 22 of the 24 first-place votes and a total of 326 points. Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs was second with the other two first-place votes and 218 points.

Bench's slugging teammate, third baseman Tony Perez, finished third in the balloting with 149 points while another member of the Reds, outfielder Pete Rose, also cracked the top 10, finishing seventh with 54 points.

Bench is only the second player in the 40-year history of MVP balloting to win the award at the age of 22. Stan Musial was 22 when he won in 1943, but Musial's birthday falls on Nov. 21 and Bench's on Dec. 7.

Musial, however, still retains the honor of having won the MVP earlier in his career than any other player. He was only in his second season when he won the National League award. Bench just finished his third year with the Reds.

Bench also is the first catcher to win the award in the NL since Roy Campanella did it with the 1955 Brooklyn Dodgers and is the first Red to win since Frank Robinson, now with Baltimore, did it in 1951.

Robinson, who helped the Orioles defeat the Reds in the World Series, was in the top 10 in the American League MVP balloting year earlier by first baseman Boog Powell of the Orioles.

Bench appeared on every ballot in winning the award, being named second on the other two cast. Besides his two firsts, Williams was placed second on 17 ballots. He also had three third-place votes, one fourth and one fifth.

After Perez in the voting came Bob Gibson, the fireballing St. Louis right-hander who previously was named the Cy Young Award winner as the league's outstanding pitcher. He received 110 votes. Wes Parker of the Los Angeles Dodgers was fifth with 91.

Rounding out the top 10 were reliever Dave Giusti of Pittsburgh, Rose, outfielder Jim Hickman of Chicago, first baseman Willie McCovey of San Francisco and outfielder Rico Carty of Atlanta. McCovey was last year's winner.

jury Tuesday about waiver and trade procedures in professional football and players' complaints about blackbaling. They said names were mentioned in the questioning but that they were not at liberty to reveal the names.

Browns General Manager Harold Sauerbrei, the only other witness Tuesday, told newsmen "there was a general discussion of the overall operations of professional football, but it would be in appropriate if I would comment further."

He did say, however, in answer to a question that the investigation "comes at a critical time in the season when we are fighting for our lives trying to win another division championship."

Marshall Turns to Rebuilding

By JOHN DUNCAN

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP)—The determination to somehow rebuild the Marshall University football team which lost 34 of its players and six of its coaches in Saturday night's flaming jetliner crash is beginning to take its first steps.

Officials here have made contacts with at least two junior colleges, and coaches at those unnamed schools have pledged to ask their sophomore players who will be leaving this spring to strongly consider Marshall.

The 8,500-student university is also preparing to request per-

Card Player Winner of Weekly Award

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys probed St. Louis' defensive secondary for a soft spot last Monday night and collided head-on with hard-nosed Roger Wehrli.

When the dust settled, Wehrli had the Cowboys hogtied with their own rope and the Cardinals had their third straight National Football League shutout—a feat last accomplished 35 years ago.

Wehrli, a quick young cornerback who helped the Cards demolish Dallas 38-0 by intercepting two passes and shackling Bullet Bob Hayes, was selected today by The Associated Press as the NFL's Defensive Player of the Week.

Apparently marked as an early target for Dallas' bomb-throwing aerial game, the second-year pro from Missouri rose to the challenge by batting a first-quarter Craig Morton pass out of Hayes' clutches to prevent a touchdown.

Hayes didn't catch a pass all night, but Wehrli came up with two big grabs—a leaping end zone interception to blunt a Dallas drive just before halftime and another theft in the second half.

He also knocked down five passes and was credited with three unassisted tackles, including a jarring hit on a kickoff return, as St. Louis protected its Eastern Division lead in the National Football Conference.

"Dallas is a big play team and you've got to look for the bomb," said Miller Farr, the Cards' other cornerback. "They probably looked at the films, noticed that I play off my man and figured they could throw deep on Roger."

But it was no go for the Cowboys as Wehrli, Farr and Co., aided by a fierce rush from the front four, yielded just 10 completions in 34 tries.

"I'm glad we finally put one together against a team that was supposed to have such a great attack," Wehrli said. "Nobody thought much about our shutouts against Houston and Boston because they aren't supposed to be that strong offensively."

The 1935 New York Giants were the last NFL team to string together three consecutive shutouts.

mission from the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) to play next year's freshmen.

"We're going to have to ask the NCAA to allow us to use freshmen players for at least the next couple of years if we are to field a representative team," said Edward Starling, Marshall's assistant director.

The crash that claimed 75 lives, the worst air disaster in American sports history, left Marshall with only 15 varsity players and 30 freshmen. Only three injured varsity starters remain of those who had much experience.

The office of acting Marshall President Donald Dedmon confirmed Tuesday night reports that head coaches at the two junior colleges will ask their sophomores to consider Marshall.

And recruiting, a program intensified here by Rick Tolley, Marshall's head coach who was killed in the crash, will also continue.

But the school needs more coaches to aid in that program, and to date no contacts have been made.

William "Red" Dawson, assistant coach who temporarily has taken charge, and Dedmon met with the surviving football players Sunday night. Many of the players were eager to play Saturday against Ohio University, saying that their dead teammates would have wanted it that way.

The game was called off, but Dedmon assured them, "We will carry on."

DALLAS (AP) — When Steve Worster, Texas' bull-strong fullback had to leave the TCU game early Saturday with a torn cartilage in his ribs, it cost him the Southwest Conference rushing lead.

Sophomore Doug McCutchen of Texas Tech grabbed it away with an average of 99.2 yards through the Red Raiders' first 10 games.

Worster's average slipped to 95.3 in eight games.

McCutchen also moved in front of Worster in tandem of offense which is yards gained rushing and passing. However, Gary Hammond of SMU retained the lead in that category with a 119.2 yard average.

Arkansas grabbed the team total offense and defense categories from Texas. The Razorbacks are averaging 450.4 yards per game in offense, compared to the Longhorns' 446.8 and hold a 256.9 yard to 283.6 yard advantage in defense.

Wake Forrest Linebacker Cited for Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Linebacker Eddie Stetz was in downtown Winston-Salem, N.C., buying a pair of slacks when word came Tuesday that he was chosen National College Lineman of the Week by The Associated Press for his play in Wake Forest's 16-13 victory over North Carolina State last Saturday.

The information spread around the campus while the 5-foot-11, 195-pound junior from Johnstown, Pa., was replenishing his wardrobe.

When he returned to the campus he passed by a group of students in the lounge of the administration building.

They told him, but Stetz didn't believe them. "I thought they were kidding," he explained.

From there, he went to his dormitory and again he was told of his honor. This time he believed.

"I never dreamed this would happen to me," he beamed, adding, "without those guys up front clearing the way it wouldn't have happened. They deserve the credit."

An ample share of the credit belongs to Stetz, of whom Coach Cal Stoll said before the season started, "Eddie Stetz has the ability to come up with the big play."

He came up with several as Wake Forest edged North Carolina State to remain tied with Duke for the lead in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The Wake Forest Deacons close their season Saturday night with a nonconference game at Houston. They can win their first ever ACC title in 18 years of trying if North Carolina helps out by beating Duke Saturday afternoon.

Against the State Wolfpack Stetz made 16 solo tackles to break the team high of 15—set by Stetz. In addition, he assisted on 11 tackles, knocked down three passes, saved the game with a fourth-down tackle inside the one-yard line and caused a late fumble that helped spike a closing threat by North Carolina State.

He has made 85 solo tackles and helped in 81 others as Wake Forest has compiled a 6-4 record.

leading scorer, the Floridians cruised to a 122-116 victory.

Pittsburgh, paced by John Brisker's 30 points, fell into fifth place, one-half game back of the Floridians.

In other ABA games Memphis shelled Virginia 119-103 and Indiana stunned Utah 125-122 in overtime. In National Basketball Association play, New York nipped Phoenix 103-100, Philadelphia ripped Detroit 113-91, San Francisco clipped Chicago 111-105, Los Angeles flipped Atlanta 116-105 and Buffalo slipped by Portland 102-101.

Memphis rookie Wendell Ladner hit 12 of his game-high 28 points in the fourth period as the Pros pulled away from Virginia and dropped the Squires out of first place in the East. Mike Barrett's 22 points topped the Squires, who trail Kentucky by one-half game.

Indiana overcame a 44-point outburst by Utah's Donnie Freeman by hitting a club record-tying nine three-point field goals. Freddie Lewis paced the Pacers with 28 points but it was John Barnhill's three-pointer that made the difference in overtime after the teams finished regulation play deadlocked at 113-113.

Joint Honors for Air Force QB, Flanker

The space program at the Air Force Academy is in full flight thanks to pilot (i.e., quarterback) Bob Parker and navigator (i.e., flanker) Ernie Jennings.

The pair of 6-footers teamed up for three touchdown passes Saturday to outshine Stanford and its heralded Heisman Trophy candidate Jim Plunkett as the Falcons made off with a 31-14 victory that put them in the Sugar Bowl.

Parker, in his first year as a regular, completed 16 of 30 passes for 229 yards. Jennings, a 9.6 sprinter, caught 13 for 174 yards.

Those performances earned the senior battery joint honors as National College Backs of the Week from The Associated Press.

Parker's 2,523 yards and 20 touchdown passes lead the nation's major college passers, as do Jennings' 1,229 yards and 17 TD catches.

"Parker has finesse and is a good over-all tactician," project coordinator (i.e., coach) Ben Martin says of his sharpshooter from West Covina, Calif. "He also has shown a great deal of poise under pressure. He has the whole offense at his command and he can throw just about any type of pass."

Ironically, all the passing records Parker is breaking belonged to last year's quarterback, Gary Baxter, who, like Parker, hailed from West Covina's Edgewood High.

"Jennings has got more moves just walking up to the line of scrimmage than most flankers have period," says caused a late fumble that helped spike a closing threat by North Carolina State.

He has made 85 solo tackles and helped in 81 others as Wake Forest has compiled a 6-4 record.

Pistons Big Balloon Is Losing Air

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Detroit Pistons better catch their second wind soon because the balloon they blew up so big earlier this season is losing air fast.

The Pistons, after turning in the worst record in the National Basketball Association last season, were the surprise of the league this year when they won 12 of their first 13 games. But since then, the Pistons have lost five in a row, the last to Philadelphia 113-91 Tuesday night.

Although they hit a team record 21 consecutive free throws, the Pistons fell flat from the field, hitting only 29 of 108 shots, or 27 per cent, their worst in several years.

Only San Francisco's 111-105 victory over the Chicago Bulls kept the Pistons from falling to third place in the Midwest Division behind Milwaukee and the Bulls.

Elsewhere, the New York Knicks showed no signs of flattening by beating Phoenix 103-100; Los Angeles continued on with a 116-105 victory over Atlanta, and Buffalo squeaked by Portland 102-101.

In the American Basketball Association, the Floridians beat Pittsburgh 122-116, Indiana stopped Utah 125-122 in overtime and Memphis topped Virginia 119-103.

The Pistons, who led the Bulls by one game, trailed only 50-44 at the half before the 76ers broke it open as Archie Clark hit eight points and Hal Greer seven. Clark finished with 24 while Dave Bing had 23 for the Pistons.

Jerry Lucas hit three clutch baskets in the final period and gathered in 29 rebounds as San Francisco held off the Bulls, who trailed 91-78 at 4:15 left. Chicago pulled within 100-98 before fading.

Ron Williams had 28 points for the Warriors while Bob Love had 32 for Chicago.

The Knicks, after leading most of the game, fell behind 96-90 in the final quarter with injured Willis Reed on the bench. However, the Knicks held the Suns scoreless for the final 1:52 while Walt Frazier and Mike Riordan hit baskets and Bill Bradley added two free throws for their 12th straight victory over Phoenix. It also was the third consecutive triumph for the Knicks, now 15-5.

Reed still led the Knicks with 19 points and 18 rebounds while Dick Van Arsdale and Clem Haskins had 23 each for the Suns.

The Lakers, retaining their 2½-game lead over San Francisco atop the Pacific Division, got 34 points by Jerry West as they pulled away from Atlanta in the third quarter. Pete Maravich pumped in a pro career high of 28 points to tie Lou Hudson for Hawk scoring honors.

Dick Garrett's jumper with 15 seconds remaining enabled Buffalo to edge Portland. Bob Kauffman led the Braves with 24 points and Geoff Petrie topped the Trail Blazers, also with 24.

Foreman and Kirkman in Prelim Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — It's been some time since George Foreman and Boone Kirkman, two promising young heavyweights, were termed prelim fighters.

But both returned to that status tonight when they meet in a 10-round fight at Madison Square Garden. It's the main event for the live Garden card but only an appetizer to the closed circuit showing of the heavyweight title fight in Detroit between Joe Frazier and Bob Foster.

As soon as Kirkman and Foreman finish their fight, the Garden ring will be encompassed by a four-sided screen lowered from the ceiling and the New York fans will watch Frazier defend his crown against Foster. Similarly, fans in Detroit's Cobo Arena will get a closed-circuit look at Foreman and Kirkman before watching the in person Foster-Frazier fight.

Foreman, unbeaten in 23 fights, has scored 20 knockouts since turning professional after capturing the Olympic heavyweight crown in 1968.

Kirkman has 18 knockouts in 23 bouts and has lost once. That was three years ago when Doug Jones stopped him on a cut. He reversed that setback, knocking

Egad, friends, once more your favorite correspondent has stunned the football world—har-rumph! How, you say? Well—kaff-kaff—who but Hoople gave you Air Force to whip Rose Bowl representative Stanford last Saturday? Greise Named Pro Offense Player of Week

MIAMI (AP) — Quarterback Bob Griese says his Miami Dolphin teammates "never lost confidence in me," even though he had failed to produce a single touchdown in 11 dry quarters.

Last Sunday the heat was on for the 25-year-old Purdue standout, and Griese became a rainmaker on the parched Orange Bowl plains. He showered the sky with lofty passes and engineered a green wave of Dolphin jerseys up and down the synthetic turf.

When the final gun sounded, the Dolphin fans, thirsting for victory after three consecutive losses, were riding high on a 21-10 triumph over the New Orleans Saints.

For his performance, the blonde signal-caller was named the National Football League's Offensive Player of the Week by The Associated Press.

"It's been a tough three weeks," Griese said Tuesday after being informed of the award. "But I never lost confidence in the team and I don't believe they lost confidence in me."

"I'm just glad we won," he said earlier, "I wasn't aware of my statistics, but if it took that to win, I'm happy about it."

Despite a bruised hip left over from the previous week's loss to Philadelphia, Griese had gone to the air 19 times with 15 completions—nine in a row—for 225 yards.

"Coming off three losing games, I thought Bob did a fine job," said Dolphins' Coach Don Shula. "He worked all week under pressure and he practiced with a bad hip."

Sun Bowl for Tech If They Lose to Hogs

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Texas Tech coach Jim Carlen says the Red Raiders would go to the "Peanut Bowl" if that meant winning the Southwest Conference football championship.

Tech announced official Tuesday that it would accept a bid to the Sun Bowl Dec. 19 probably against Georgia Tech if it doesn't win the SWC championship.

"By 4 p.m. Monday we wanted to get that bowl stuff out of our minds," Carlen says. "We want to go to the Cotton Bowl. We can't be worried about bowls and get ready for Arkansas."

Red Raiders hosts the Razorbacks in a crucial SWC game Saturday. Arkansas and Texas are 5-0 in the SWC race and Tech is 5-1.

A Tech victory would mean the Red Raiders are still in the running for the Cotton. Of course, Arkansas or Texas A&M would have to down the No. 1 ranked Longhorns to make that a possibility.

The Red Raiders were offered a choice of the Bluebonnet, Peach, Gator and Sun Bowls.

"I explained to the boys the offers that were made," Carlen says. "It's up to you and they said 'This (The Sun Bowl) is the one we want to go to.'"

The decision of the players was approved Monday night by the athletic council and the board of regents.

Tech is 8-2 for the year while Georgia Tech is 7-3, including a heart-breaking 10-7 loss to Notre Dame last week.

Jones out a few months later.

Kirkman, a former Amateur Athletic Union champ, was ruled a 3-1 underdog against Foreman.

Can You Spot The Difference In INSURANCE AGENCIES?

It's easy. If an agent represents many companies and handles all types of insurance, you know he is fiercely independent. He isn't tied to any one company and by representing many, he can place your business where it's best for you. Working on a commission basis he represents only your interests.

And if he lives in the community, he's local. A local, independent agent is hard to beat.

Here is another hand to test your ability to play the dummy with all 52 cards in sight.

The contract in the box is six spades, but when this hand was played in a Chicago duplicate most pairs stopped at either four or five spades. This doesn't really affect the correct play. Only one player in the room managed to win 12 tricks, although, after the diamond lead, 12 tricks are there for the taking. They aren't there against a trump or club lead.

The winning line of play is what is known as a dummy reversal. South ruffs the diamond opening and should note that, if he can ruff the other three diamonds in his own hand, he will be able to score seven trump tricks instead of just six. This seventh trump trick will give him 12, with a chance of 13 in case the hearts break 3-3. At trick two, South should lead a trump to dummy to make sure that all four trumps aren't bunched against him. When both opponents follow, he ruffs a second diamond, leads a heart to dummy's ace, ruffs a third diamond, enters dummy with a high club, ruffs a fourth diamond, cashes his last trump, enters dummy with the last high club, leads out dummy's last trump to pull West's last trump and discard his losing club at the same time.

This leaves him with 10 tricks in and he proceeds to lead a heart to his king and queen for the 11th and 12th tricks. If East has discarded a heart somewhere along the way, South makes a grand slam. In any event, his six has come home.

Banquet Funds Will Go to Marshall U.

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Ohio University and Xavier University college football teams Tuesday voted to forego their annual appreciation banquets and donate the funds to the Marshall University athletic program.

The decisions were in light of the crash of a Southern Airline plane near Huntington, W. Va., in which 37 members of the Marshall team were killed. Seventy-five died in all.

Canadiens Back on Top in Hockey

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Montreal Canadiens are back in first place in the National League's East Division and veteran Henri Richard is the guy who led the charge back to the top.

The Canadiens took over the division lead Tuesday night with a 5-1 romp over California with Richard scoring two goals and assisting on two others.

The victory gave Montreal 21 points, one more than idle Boston and New York. Both the Bruins and Rangers have played two fewer games than the Canadiens.

In Tuesday's other games, Minnesota rapped St. Louis 5-3 and Detroit turned back Vancouver 5-2.

The Canadiens, who missed the NHL playoffs for the first time in 22 years last spring, were boosted by the return to action of right wing Yvan Cournoyer, who had missed three weeks because of a cracked foot, and left wing John Ferguson, who was launching a comeback after discarding retirement plans.

But Cournoyer and Ferguson did not make the difference. Richard and Peter Mahovich, who also had two goals, did.

Richard, who had only one goal in Montreal's first 15 games, scored in the first and second periods and assisted on Mahovich's first goal and another Montreal goal by rookie Guy Lapointe.

Minnesota ended St. Louis' seven-game home ice unbeaten streak with goals by Judes Drouin and Tom Williams snapping a 2-2 tie.

After Drouin and Williams put the North Stars in control, Jim Robert's countered for the Blues. Then Danny Grant's third-period goal wrapped up the victory for Minnesota.

Detroit, in beating Vancouver, moved to within two points of the fourth-place Canucks in the East Division. Alex Delvecchio, Gerry Hart, Tom Webster, Billy Dea and Wayne Connelly produced the Wings' goals while Murray Hall and Andre Boudrias scored for Vancouver.

Hardin Can't Quit District, Court Rules

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The U.S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals took as submitted Tuesday an appeal on a federal court order prohibiting the Hardin community from seceding from the Dollarway School District.

U.S. District Judge J. Smith Henley, handling the Pine Bluff division, ruled last Jan. 22 that the Hardin community could not withdraw from the district because of the effect it would have on court-ordered desegregation.

The Hardin community had its own school for many years but was consolidated with Dollarway in 1948 at the request of Hardin residents. The Hardin school building had burned two years earlier.

In March of 1969, Henley rejected a residential zoning plan for the district because it would result in little desegregation of the district's schools, which were predominantly white or all-Negro.

On Sept. 11, 1969, a proposal for secession of the Hardin district from Dollarway was approved by voters. A suit was filed by other residents to block secession. It claimed withdrawal of the Hardin community's predominantly white students would make desegregation more difficult for remaining whites in the Dollarway district. Henley ruled in their favor.

The appeal was filed by the Committee for Re-establishing the Hardin School District. Attorneys submitted briefs and no arguments were heard.

Meadlo to Be Called in Mitchell Case

By ROBERT HEARD
Associated Press Writer
FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — Paul Meadlo, who told a national television audience he shot several South Vietnamese at May Lai, was expected to be called today in the court-martial of S. Sgt. David Mitchell. But Meadlo's lawyer said he would advise him not to testify.

Defense attorneys told newsmen Tuesday that Meadlo, of Terre Haute, Ind., would be their second witness today. The first witness was to be Elmer Haywood of Baytown, Tex., who also was at My Lai, the attorneys said.

John Kessler, an Indiana state representative, said he would advise Meadlo not to testify.

Kessler noted that Col. George R. Robinson, military judge in the Mitchell trial, has warned other civilian witnesses that an admission they were present during the alleged massacre at My Lai might tend to incriminate them.

Robinson ruled Tuesday that witnesses who declined to testify on their presence at My Lai would be allowed to avoid any questions about My Lai.

Meadlo told Mike Wallace on a CBS program last Nov. 24: "I might have killed about 10 or 15 of them—men, women and children, and babies."

The defense called 11 witnesses Tuesday. One stated that Mitchell was not at a drainage ditch outside My Lai where the Army says Mitchell shot at 30 unarmed civilians. The assault with intent to murder charge carries a maximum penalty of 20 years.

Sidney Kye of Kansas City, Kan., told the court that he was about 60 to 65 yards from the ditch when the civilians allegedly were shot.

On cross-examination, Kye said he could identify only one of the men he saw shooting into the ditch, Lt. William L. Calley Jr., who is being tried at Ft. Benning, Ga., on charges of murdering 102 civilians at My Lai.

Pro Plan for Disasters Under Study

NEW YORK (AP) — The plane crash tragedies which struck football teams from Wichita State and Marshall Universities this season, have focused attention on the plans devised by professional sports to deal with such potential catastrophes.

All four major professional team sports played in this country—baseball, football, basketball and hockey—have disaster plans for stocking teams devastated by accidents.

In baseball, the American and National leagues have separate plans which would create player pools from remaining teams to form a squad. The NL plan is not detailed but the AL plan goes into effect if six or more players are lost.

The National Football League has three separate plans for formulating a new team, depending on the number of casualties suffered by the affected team. In the event a new team cannot be formed, the commissioner of football is empowered to delete the affected team's games from the standings.

The National Basketball Association has a total disaster plan but none designed to deal with partial loss of a team. Should a team be completely wiped out, the remaining teams would be permitted to protect five players with the others placed in a draft pool to stock the affected team.

In the National Hockey League, the loss of five or more players sets in motion the plan which resembles the league's summer draft. Each remaining club would protect 10 skaters and one goalie with the remaining players open to a stocking draft with players equally supplied from all the teams.

Baptist Group Plans Weekend Meet

Climbers Are Near Top of Mountain

By BILL STALL
Associated Press Writer
YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. (AP) — Hungry and weary rock climbers Warren Harding and Dean Caldwell neared the 3,000-foot summit of El Capitan today and their goal of becoming the first men to scale the sheer "Wall of the Morning Light."

A large welcoming party of friends and newsmen waited atop the giant granite monolith to greet the bearded pair with a feast of steak, eggs, pastry and other foods they have done without for nearly a month.

Harding and Caldwell had expected to reach the top of the unclimbed southeast face of El Capitan Tuesday—their 26th day of climbing—but they stopped 200 feet short of the summit and spent the night in cocoon-like sleeping bags attached to expansion bolts driven into the rock.

Harding, 48, of West Sacramento, Calif., and Caldwell, 27, of Portland, Ore., launched their venture Oct. 23 and had expected to take 10 days to climb the "Wall of the Morning Light," so named because it catches the day's first sunshine. They carried 20 days supply of food and for the past week have subsisted on candy bars and sardines.

A storm stranded them halfway up the face for nearly a week, through last Wednesday, but the climbers spurned a rescue offer Friday by the National Park Service.

Since then, the weather has cleared and they have been making good progress.

Tate Defense Team Often Disagrees

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The defense in the Sharon Tate murder trial is planned as a joint effort—an "umbrella defense"—but the four attorneys agree that they often disagree.

"At this moment in time, we are in agreement," says one. "But I can't tell you what will happen tomorrow."

The agreement, as the defense case opens Thursday after a two-day recess, is to let one attorney—Paul Fitzgerald—take the helm, calling and questioning witnesses who will testify for all four defendants. Other attorneys will move in for witnesses whose testimony relates specially to their individual clients.

The four represent Charles Manson, leader of the hippie-type clan, and three women followers charged with murder-conspiracy in the slayings of Miss Tate and six others. The trial entered its 23rd week Monday with the plane resting its case.

Arguments for dismissal of charges are set for Thursday, followed by opening of the defense case. The defense plans to call about 40 witnesses.

fire Kanarek and let him be his own attorney. The requests—including one Monday backed by two other defense attorneys—were turned down.

Other attorneys have complained about Kanarek's tactics, and at one point accused him of trying to "dump" the girl defendants by eliciting testimony helpful to Manson but harmful to the others. At various times, each attorney has moved to sever his client's case from one or more of the others.

"There are still disputes among us," a team member said Tuesday. "It's only natural in a joint trial."

$50 Million Increase in Revenues Seen

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Sen. Clarence E. Bell of Parkin said Tuesday that he thinks normal growth and some legislation can increase state revenues by $50 million next year without a major tax hike.

Bell does foresee a need, however, for some tax action, and he believes legislators would be willing to approve tax measures to provide $25 million or $30 million.

He said such a tax package, coupled with revenue increases due to natural growth of the state's economy, would provide about $50 million more to meet state needs.

The easiest areas in which to raise additional revenue would be through an extension of the sales tax to services not now covered by it and several other tax fields, he said.

Bell said in an interview that he had yet to confer with Gov. Dale Bumpers, but would pass his views on to Bumpers when they get together in days ahead.

Bell, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, said he believed elementary, secondary and higher education should get the lion's share of the increase in revenue.

"This is my own personal thinking," he said. "But it's quite possible that $50 million (in additional revenue) could be reached without an across-the-board tax increase."

"That would largely meet the needs of education at all levels and I think education ought to get most of any increase," Bell said.

Bumpers gave education No. 1 priority during his campaign and said he would seek tax increases if normal growth and efficiency did not provide enough money to adequately meet basic state needs.

Bell said he believed normal growth might produce up to $25 million, half the sum he believes is needed in new revenue.

"The rest could be raised in taxes if it's $25 million, or even if it's a little more," he said.

"I don't think people will go along with a major tax increase, not anything like $60 million," Bell said. "They're just not in the mood for it."

"But you could get $50 million through normal increases and whatever amount you had to get through new taxes," he said.

Bell said extension of the three per cent sales tax to most services would net the state about $10 million to $12 million more than the tax now provides.

raised through removal of some severance tax exemptions, although some exemptions probably would continue to exist. "There are some exemptions no one could realistically expect us to remove without doing the state harm," he said.

Bell also said increases in the personal income tax rate on the higher income tax brackets might bring the state another $5 million.

Those three items would account for $17 million to $19 million in new taxes in each year of the next biennium, Bell said.

SST Probe Near Another Showdown

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The supersonic transport, headed soon for another Senate funding showdown, is under investigation by the General Accounting Office, the government's spending watchdog agency.

But results of the major study into all aspects of the controversial SST project won't be available for at least a year.

The GAO probe is expected to be seized by critics as a new reason for holding up further SST funds, at least until the study is complete.

Sources close to senators opposing more federal aid for the faster-than-sound passenger plane said the investigation will include the feasibility and desirability of federal funding to build the SST prototype, the terms of the contract and the possibilities of cost overruns.

Senate critics contend a fleet of SSTs in regular transcontinental service will befoul the environment with noise and air pollution.

The sources said SST critics in the Senate attempted unsuccessfully to get the GAO to step up the pace of its study in hopes its conclusions will help sway a vote against continued appropriations for the project.

It was also learned the GAO may have a report soon on allegations of irregularities in subcontracts for the costly project.

That report was requested by the office of Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., based on unconfirmed information it had received.

Proxmire is a leading SST critic, attacking it as a billion-dollar waste.

The $290 million appropriation to continue development of an SST prototype for one more year has yet to emerge from the transportation subcommittee of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Paper Market Unglamorous Finance Area

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The commercial paper market has long been an unglamorous area of high finance, a market in which large corporations routinely lent or borrowed from each other for short periods.

Commercial paper is an unsecured note. A company seldom can afford to keep any excess cash idle, so it lends it to another company or institution, perhaps through a dealer, for a few days or up to 270 days.

Single deals run into many millions of dollars, and the amount outstanding now totals more than $30 billion, but the business had always been conducted solely among professionals, and so quietly as to be unknown to the public.

No longer. The default by Penn Central Transportation on its commercial paper has shaken professionals who felt there was no danger in such investments. And hearings may provide the public with a fascinating insight into this hidden world.

The background involves, among other things, incredible laxness and naivete on the part of professional money men; a misunderstanding of responsibilities; and a puzzling lack of knowledge about the product dealt in, the quality of the paper being bought and sold.

Regarding the last point: The Penn Central was one of the most highly publicized corporations in America. Presumably, as much or more information was known about this operation as any other, with tons available from Interstate Commerce Commission Hearings and proceedings leading to the merger of the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads.

And yet, some of its directors were uncertain about its financial condition until a few days before it filed for reorganization under the bankruptcy laws.

The firm of Goldman, Sachs & Co., which bought and resold Penn Central paper, believed one month before the collapse that the company was sound.

Goldman, Sachs is now being sued for $23 million in damages by a large mutual fund and three other businesses which bought quantities of the railroad's paper through it.

Insurance companies, banks and other corporations which bought the paper also are angry at commercial paper dealers, feeling that the dealers failed to properly inform them about purchases.

The dealers believe they have no obligation other than to present all available information and add that, furthermore, all purchasers of commercial paper have equal access to the facts on their own.

But many professionals who purchased Penn Central paper concede they forgot that paper was an investment involving risk. They forgot about the need for the buyer to beware. They failed to ask questions a child would ask before buying candy.

and to boost the domestic economy.

Proxmire and other Senate critics of the project are trying to stop the government from further involvement in a project they say is primarily commer-

Court Rules Favorable to Newsmen

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A federal appeals court has ruled that a newsman cannot be ordered to appear before a secret U.S. grand jury session unless the government demonstrates a "compelling public need" for his presence.

The decision by the three-judge 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals panel held that Earl Caldwell, a New York Times reporter, was innocent of contempt for failure to appear last June before a federal grand jury probing Black Panther activities.

Judge Alfonso Zirpoli had ruled in U.S. District Court last April 3 that the newsman must appear, although entitled to refuse to answer certain grand jury questions until the government demonstrated "a compelling and overriding national interest" requiring his testimony.

Caldwell declined to appear and was cited for contempt.

The three-judge panel, reversing the June 5 contempt citation, said in an opinion written by Judge Charles M. Merbill: "Where it has been shown that the public's First Amendment right to be informed would be jeopardized by requiring a journalist to submit to secret grand jury interrogation, the government must respond by demonstrating a compelling need for the witness's presence before judicial process properly can issue to require attendance."

The opinion declared that if a newsman were compelled to testify in secret his sources "might very understandably fear that the reporter's resolve to protect them would crumble in the pressures of the secret hearing."

The opinion described its ruling as "a narrow one," commenting, "It is not every news source that is as sensitive as the Black Panther party has been shown to be respecting the performance of the Establishment press or the extent to which that performance is open to view."

Caldwell told a news conference:

"For me personally, without this kind of ruling I would have been unable to continue in this business. I don't think it is a personal victory but a victory for this business. No journalist can play on both sides of the street as the government insisted."

One of his attorneys, Law Prof. Anthony Amsterdam of Stanford University, said, "I think it gives the kind of protection newsmen need in these times and prevents the government from using newsmen as investigators."

U.S. Atty. James Browning Jr., said the government would study the opinion before deciding what to do next. It could ask for a rehearing by the appeals court or for a Supreme Court review of the decision.

Agencies for Federal Funds to Be Probed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Legislative Council Tuesday adopted a resolution by Rep. William H. Thompson of Marked Tree to seek information on how much the state is spending on agencies that were created to obtain federal funds.

Thompson told the council that he was tired of seeing the state spend money on "social work" agencies that resulted in no benefit to the people.

Thompson offered his motion after the council heard the budget request of the Office on Aging. Council members had complained previously, however, about the agencies that were involved primarily in planning programs to take advantage of federal funds.

Paul Shipley, executive director of the state Juvenile Training School Department, told the council that the training schools were asking for $1,699,118 in 1971-72 and $1,791,903 in 1972-73, compared with an appropriation of $1,162,079 for the present fiscal year.

WHAT TURNS HIM ON? An adult male gypsy moth—only 3/4-inch long—is shown in extreme close-up while its reaction to various lures is recorded by Department of Agriculture scientists. Bumpers to Review All Agency Budgets Before Decision on Tax Hike

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Governor-elect Dale Bumpers said Tuesday that he hoped to review proposed budgets of all state agencies by next week as part of his determination of whether additional taxes will be necessary.

Bumpers said he planned to speak to the Arkansas Legislative Council this week and would talk to individual council members to obtain recommendations on taxes.

The governor-elect told a news conference here that he was anxious to complete his talks with state department heads so that he can begin developing a legislative program to present to the 1971 General Assembly.

He said he was giving priority to the preparation of legislation and hoped to have it ready by the time the legislature is scheduled to convene Jan. 11.

In answer to a question, Bumpers said he had considered the Middle-age Apparently Is Fly in Ointment in Living to Ripe Old Age

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Almost everyone would like to live to a ripe old age—but before you can be old you first have to be middle-aged.

That's the fly in the ointment. Many who think of old age as a time of golden serenity before the final curtain regard middle age with a feeling akin to horror. To them it is a kind of second adolescence even more gruesome than the first one.

The odd thing about it is that people often become middle-aged without even being aware of it. The mental and physical symptoms creep up on them so subtly they are unnoticed. How can one tell if this is happening to him?

Well, you are getting middle-aged if—
When you sign an apartment lease you have to trust your landlord, because it is simply too much trouble to read the fine print.

At a cocktail party you prefer to talk with people who share your prejudices. That way you don't have to bother to think.

You don't really mind young people as long as they stay in their place. Their place is some other place than where you are.

When you go into your doctor's office, you both know even before he opens his mouth just what it is he is going to tell you that you have to give up "for your own good."

U.S. to Give $10 Million to Victims

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN
Associated Press Writer

DACCA, East Pakistan (AP) — Swiss and German aircraft ferried in tons of relief supplies today and President Nixon allocated $10 million to the international rehabilitation effort for survivors of the cyclone and tidal waves that inundated a large area of East Pakistan six days ago. But there were complaints from Pakistanis that their government wasn't doing enough.

The number of dead remained incalculable. The government confirmed 55,000, but unofficial estimates were from 300,000 to 650,000; the Pakistani relief commissioner, A. M. Anisuzzaman, said he could neither challenge nor confirm them.

Dozens of small islands in the Bay of Bengal were still untouched by relief workers. Survivors told newsmen their drinking water came from pools befouled by corpses of human beings and cattle and their only food was rotting rice kernels they burned before eating to kill the stench.

Officials discounted reports of widespread cholera in the stricken area.

"The incidence of cholera is insignificant compared to other problems of relief here," said Dr. Wiley H. Mosley, chief of epidemiology of the cholera laboratory run by Pakistan and the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Planes were on their way from the United States, Britain, France, Iran and other countries.

Communist China said it was donating more than $300,000 worth of rice, other food, blankets and medicine, and nearly $475,000 in cash.

But despite President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan's pledge to "give all help and relief to victims," the only Pakistani aircraft participating in relief work on Tuesday was a helicopter that Anisuzzaman said had to be grounded for maintenance after 14 hours aloft. Two small planes with less than two tons' cargo capacity were scheduled to start dropping supplies today. The relief chief said the air force offered two C130s but they were considered too fast for low-flying air-drops.

Relief officials conceded the effort was far short of what was needed. One said dealing with the army for such equipment as helicopters is "a delicate question."

Nixon Seeks $1 Billion to Aid Israel

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon summoned leaders from both sides of Congress to the White House today to put before them his request for $1 billion in additional foreign aid for Israel and several Asian countries.

Nixon was expected to tell leaders he based his request on the Nixon Doctrine of reducing United States involvement overseas, while helping foreign nations to build their defenses.

The supplemental appropriation would be in addition to the $2.2 billion already asked for by the administration.

Most of the extra money would go to Israel, knowledgeable sources said. The remainder—about $500 million—would be divided between the Asian countries.

Charged in Pine Bluff Murder

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Willie Lee Webster, 47, of Pine Bluff was charged Tuesday with second-degree murder in the shooting death Saturday of James S. Taylor, 55, of Pine Bluff.

Prosecutor Joe Holmes filed the charges against Webster. Taylor's body was found in a field near Lake Pine Bluff. Authorities said he had been shot once with a .38-caliber weapon.

SAIGON (AP) — An enemy booby trap has killed five Americans. The deaths brought to 30 the total of Americans killed by booby traps and mines in the last 11 days, almost 60 per cent of the total combat deaths reported during the period. Meanwhile, more than 6,000 South Vietnamese troops continue their push into northeastern Cambodia.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sponsors of a landmark job safety bill, passed by the Senate 82-3 Tuesday, say the measure will become law despite a Republican threat to weaken it in the House.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The worst monthly drop in industrial production in more than a decade has dimmed Nixon administration hopes that the economy is moving toward recovery. Seasonally adjusted figures released Tuesday showed the industrial production index in October fell 2.3 per cent.

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 750 top scientists, including six Nobel Prize winners are urging the Senate to kill a defense facilities and industrial security proposal which they contend is a threat to their laboratory work.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A federal appeals court has ruled that a newsman cannot be ordered to appear before a secret U.S. grand jury session unless the government demonstrates a "compelling public need" for his presence.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The results of a year-long national survey, made public Tuesday by the Education Commission of the States, has found that most young Americans recognize social problems but have limited knowledge of political processes and racial injustice.

Foster Home for Juveniles Organized

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP) — A group of Arkadelphia residents is forming the Clark County Attention Home—a foster home for juveniles.

The home will be organized and directed through the offices of juvenile court and supported entirely by local citizens. The home will supply necessary control of juveniles but will be far less restrictive and punishing than jail.

The home will house boys from six to 21 and a young married couple, to be selected by a professional committee, will supervise the home.

Hendrix Plans Development

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Dr. Roy B. Shilling Jr., president of Hendrix College here, has outlined a five-year program of institutional growth and development for the college.

Shilling presented the program to a meeting last week of the Board of Trustees, which endorsed the program.

The program would initiate a program of faculty and staff development, create an instructional system to individualize the teaching-learning process, enrich the program of student social-cultural life, improve the system of governance and extend the public service role of the college.

Industrial Production Drop Dims Hopes for an Economy Snapback

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The worst monthly drop in industrial production in more than a decade has dimmed Nixon administration hopes that the economy is snapping back and moving toward recovery.

Seasonally adjusted figures released Tuesday show the industrial production index in October fell 2.3 per cent, the most since August 1959 when there was a nationwide steel strike. The index is down 6.3 per cent from October, 1969.

Half of October's percentage decline was blamed on the auto workers' strike against General Motors and its depressing effect on industrial output. Tentative agreement has since been reached but GM is still struggling to resume production.

But, strike or no strike, the drop in the important economic indicator still would have been large, the Federal Reserve Board said.

It was the third straight monthly decline in the index, a disappointment to administration officials who have been

The maneuver "sets the stage for what may well become an historic confrontation between the Congress and the federal courts," the House Internal Security Committee said in a statement.

Public printing of the report—which lists college campus speeches by 65 persons that the committee says are revolutionaries, militants and Communists—has been prohibited by U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell.

Booby Traps Killing More Americans

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — An enemy booby trap killed five Americans today, more casualties than 6,000 South Vietnamese troops have suffered in two days of operations in Cambodia.

The crude explosive device ripped through a unit of the 196th Brigade as it moved out after breakfast through rolling foothills 42 miles southeast of Da Nang.

American officers have become so alarmed over a recent rash of booby trap and mine deaths in the region north and south of Da Nang that they are offering cash rewards to peasants who tip them off to locations of the deadly devices.

Of 53 Americans reported killed in combat in the past 11 days, 30 have been the victims of booby traps and mines. One U.S. official estimates that such devices are causing 60 per cent of the U.S. deaths in action.

Meanwhile, more than 6,000 South Vietnamese troops pushed deeper into the mountainous jungles of northeastern Cambodia on two fronts, smashing North Vietnamese base camps and staging areas, and seizing food supplies and communications equipment, including field radios and telephone switchboards.

Contact was reported generally light, with 56 North Vietnamese killed and 24 captured since the two forces crossed the border on Monday. The government said its total casualties were two killed and three wounded.

South Vietnamese headquarters said the primary aim of the two drives was to search out enemy base areas that could support attacks in Vietnam's central highlands.

The U.S. Command reports that American observation helicopters spotted North Vietnamese troops around a complex of bunkers half a mile inside Vietnam near the Cambodian border north of the South Vietnamese sweep. The Vietnamese fired on the helicopters, which called in American fighter-bombers.

After three hours of air strikes, the bodies of 18 North Vietnamese were counted and 32 bunkers were destroyed, the U.S. Command said. There were no American casualties.

South Vietnamese headquarters announced termination of another ground operation in Cambodia about 20 miles southeast of Phnom Penh on the east bank of the Mekong River. The headquarters said 50 North Vietnamese were killed in the four-day operation, 41 were captured and 61 suspects were detained. Eleven South Vietnamese were reported killed and 23 wounded.

Temperatures Expected to Be Mild

Santa Packs Peacock Raiment for Your Man

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The difficult task of finding something for the men in your life for Christmas becomes easier each season. There's a much wider choice than there used to be because of the "peacock revolution."

Color runs rampant in shirts, ties and even dinner jackets. Cosmetics and colognes for men sell nearly as well as they do for women. And even wigs are in vogue. (It better be someone really close, though, if you decide on a wig or he may no longer be one of the men in your life.)

If THE MAN on your list has let his hair grow long, an electric hot comb would be a welcome gift.

Hats are taking over in the men's fashion field as well as they have for the girls. And the new wide brims are mighty dashing.

Cuff links, watches and neck chains with medallions are big on the scene. One watch in Mathey-Tissot's new collection is individualized to carry the name of a high school, college or branch of the military service and the frame can be removed by a jeweler at any time.

Sweaters of every length and pattern are very much the "in" thing this season, and many are worn with belts. So if you choose a sweater for him, why not spring for a belt to go along with it?

Shopping is a cinch if the giftee is a camera buff. Even movie cameras feature instant cartridge loading. There are still cameras with an electric-eye that automatically sets for correct exposure and a signal in the viewfinder that indicates when to use flash.

For the weekend carpenter there is a new kind of hand-saw with a tapered blade that prevents wood from binding during the sawing operation.

With the current wider length and colorful patterns, even shopping for that old standby "the Christmas tie" will be more fun than it used to be.

The new longer scarf has become a status symbol among the male contingent, and for casual wear the small, square scarf has become an integral part of the uniform.

If you're wary about his acceptance of these fashion gimmicks, you can always make a beeline to the sporting goods department for fishing, hunting, sailing or skiing gear.

But at least you need no longer feel in that yearly rut as you rush to the nearest wallet or glove counter.

Of course, if you feel just too, too affluent, there is an Alaska wolf fur parka only $595; a designer's man's turtle-skin handbag for $200; an oriental carpet-type bag for only $28; sealskin mittens at $25; an automatic credit card ejector—they pop out at the flip of a switch; or, if he's a gourmet cook, there's a solid-silver, three-foot-high, imported duck press for only $510.

But no matter how little or how much you spend, shopping for the male won't be a stuffy job this time around.

There's lots of plumage for the taking.

Book Negative Option Is Before FTC

WASHINGTON (AP) — Book and record club officials lined up today to tell the Federal Trade Commission why it should not ban the so-called "negative option" selling practice.

The FTC has branded as "inherently unfair" the practice of sending a featured book or record to members each month unless they send back a post card saying they don't want it.

Such practices prey on persons who procrastinate, are absent-minded or are preoccupied with other day-to-day problems, says the FTC, and have resulted in numerous complaints about computer billing.

Only a handful of persons listing themselves as consumer representatives signed up before today's opening session of the four days of hearings. The rest represent book clubs, record clubs, encyclopedia firms and publishing houses.

At least a dozen industry representatives submitted more than 5,000 pages of testimony attacking the FTC's proposed ban, made public last May but not due to become effective for another six months to a year.

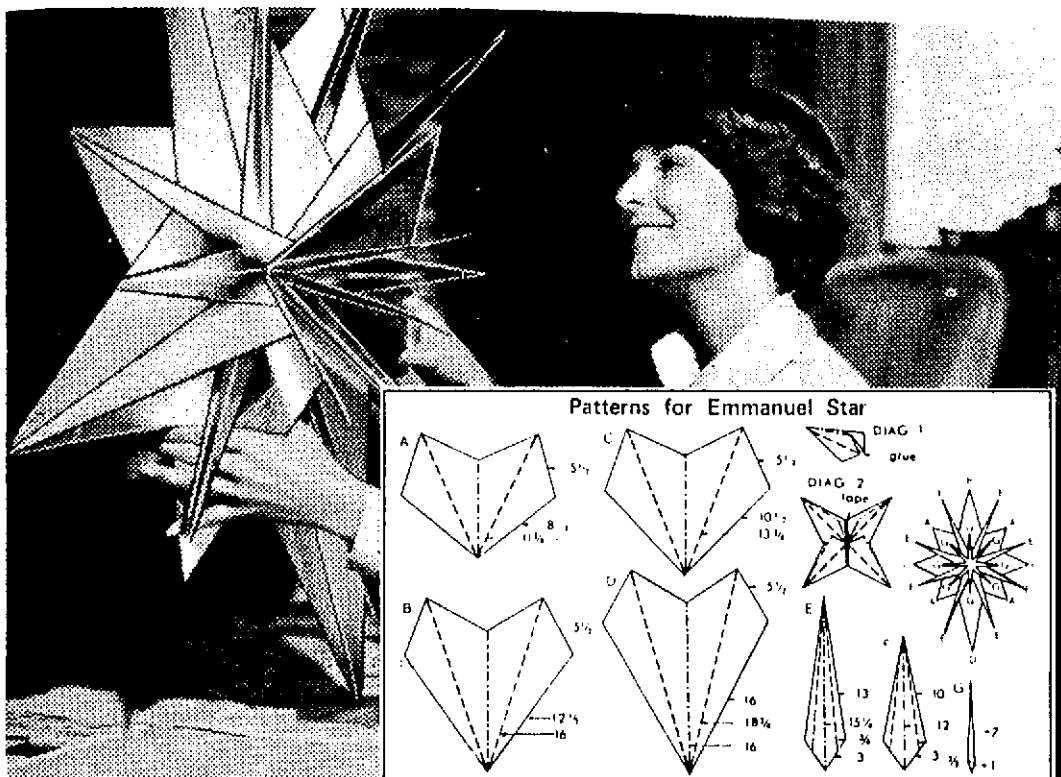

Under the negative option, a book club, for example, sends its members a list of selections for the coming month. Unless a member notifies the book club that he does not want any selection or prefers another book, he is sent the featured selection whether he wants it or not.

Defenders of the negative option maintain it is widely used and widely accepted as a sales

Symbol of Christmas

By AILEEN SNODDY

If there is someone around the house who is adept at making paper airplanes, put him to work creating a shimmering silver Christmas star. All you will need for an Emmanuel star is poster board, silver paper or aluminum foil, adhesive tape and spray adhesive.

Although the star (shown) was designed by pros in the Norcross Design Studio, it is easier to make than it looks. Just follow directions using the pattern diagram (above) as a guide.

POINTS—Using poster board, cut out points; four A's, one B, two C's and one D. Cover front side of each point with spray adhesive and smooth on textured silver foil. Now score the dot-and-dash lines on the front side and dash lines on the back side. Fold forward along dot-and-dash lines and glue as shown in Diagram 1. Fold the dash lines outward.

SPIRES—Again with poster board, cut out the spires; four E's, four F's and eight G's. Spray on adhesive and cover front side of each spire with shiny silver foil. Score on dot-and-dash lines on the front side and fold forward. Score the dash lines on the back side and fold outward.

ASSEMBLY—With clear tape, tape together points A as shown in Diagram 1. Glue points B, C and D onto points A. Now glue on spires E and F and finish by gluing on spires G to the center of the star.

The star makes a season focal point attached to a door, a living room mirror or when used as a centerpiece.

practice. Others suggest finding a middle ground between total ban and its unchecked use.

Some record and book clubs contend they are performing a valuable service to consumers, especially in rural areas, by offering books and records otherwise unavailable.

The FTC said one of the biggest complaints about the negative option is continued computer billing for books or records which a club member did not want and may not have received.

Mild Pass at Another Chair

WASHINGTON (AP) — Singer Pearl Bailey made a mild pass at another White House chair Monday but President Nixon managed to talk her out of it.

The singer was among those present at a sort of open house during which the President received a variety of visitors.

"We can't sit down—you didn't bring your chair back," he told her in a reference to a previous White House visit when Nixon gave Miss Bailey the chair she used while entertaining.

He pulled an upholstered chair from behind his desk and Miss Bailey exclaimed: "Oh! Another chair!"

"Don't take that one!" the President hastened to say. "It's a little too heavy."

Woo Vogue with Vest

By JUDY LOVE

Vests are certainly in vogue for this season of pants suits, gaucho girls and just good fashion sense. A finished, "together" look depends on that perfect final touch.

Take this chic loop-fringe vest, for example. It's just the right look to top off and dress up those sporty slacks, gaucho pants or a casual skirt. Crochet this smart looped vest in russet or cranberry and you'll add that final touch to your new fall look.

This stylish, easy-to-make, sleeveless vest is crocheted from the bottom up; there's no front closing, so just finish off the armholes, neckline and front edges and there you have it. Do crochet one; work it the hipline length shown here, or add rows and rows for the long look that's newsy today.

This style is recommended by the Mohair Council, incidentally, as a fashion choice for custom handwork this season.

Directions for this chic topper are available for sizes 10 to 16. Simply send 50 cents to Stitchin' Time, c/o your local newspaper, Radio City Station, Box 503, New York, N. Y. 10021. Ask for leaflet S304 and include your name, address and zip code.

Knit Knacks

DEAR JUDY—Can you help me? I'd like to know the best way to "turn" before ending a row. I'm referring to heels of socks. Thanks.—SONIA E., Grand Rapids.

DEAR SONIA—Many of my readers have asked for this information over the past few months, so here you are:

First row: Knit 8 sts. on the right-hand needle, leaving 14 sts. on left-hand needle. Turn your work around so that the purl side is facing you. The needle with the 8 sts. is now in the left hand, the other in your right.

Second row: Knit to end of the row. This means you knit the 8 sts. onto right-hand needle, thus leaving all 22 sts. on needle again. One

Thinks Agnew the Greatest

WASHINGTON (AP)—Presidential daughter Julie Nixon Eisenhower reportedly thinks Vice President Spiro T. Agnew is "the greatest," but as for Martha Mitchell, "I think everybody knows her views don't represent the administration views."

She was quoted to this effect in an interview with Vera Glasner and Malvina Stephenson copyrighted by the Knight Newspapers, Inc., and made public Sunday.

Mrs. Eisenhower was reported to have said that voluble Mrs. Mitchell "probably feels she may be doing a service by being outspoken."

Describing as "crazy" suggestions that Nixon might drop Agnew from the 1972 ticket, Julie was quoted as saying: "I think the press has decided Agnew's helping the party too much and they'd like to get rid of him."

Grace Returns Only Briefly

LONDON (AP)—Grace Kelly has made a brief return to show business for the first time since she married Prince Rainier in 1956 and became Her Serene Highness Princess Grace of Monaco.

She acted as mistress of ceremonies Monday night at a charity gala called the "Night of Nights" and starring Frank Sinatra and Bob Hope.

The princess was a last-minute stand-in for ailing Sir Noel Coward.

Screen star Raquel Welch and television's David Frost were among those who made appearances at the show, staged for the benefit of United World Colleges, which establishes multi-racial schools.

After it was over Princess

Grace, Hope and Sinatra had a supper party with Prince Charles, heir to the British throne, his sister Princess Anne and other members of the British royal family.

Fashion Out on Limb-- Consumer Cuts It Off

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Today's strongest wielder of influence in the fashion field has met its match.

Last January Women's Wear Daily took a firm stand way out on the limb of the midi tree—and stayed put.

Now the consumer, whom that newspaper helped to educate in the art of "doing her own thing" fashionwise, has cut off the branch.

Since John Fairchild took over as head of Fairchild publications, Women's Wear made and broke both fashions and designers. And clothes-conscious women looked to it for guidance. It became the fashion bible. It has also been called "the terror tabloid."

Fairchild claims today's Women's Wear is the result of his vow to make designers take notice of him and his paper—a vow made when, as its bureau chief in the mid-'50s, he was seated at the rear of the salons during the couture collections.

But does the man who launched the midi mistake during an ailing economy really take fashion seriously?

According to him, he doesn't. "It's like food," he said of fashion. "Good to taste, good to see, nothing more."

Does he feel that Women's Wear's solid backing of the Longue (a word he chose to describe the midi but which the French claim means nothing at all) was in any way responsible for the slowing down of mills or for fashion houses going out of business? No, he does not.

Although his powerful fashion journal has been beating everything but the midi out of the fashion jungle, he insists, "No one can dictate fashion. It's like telling someone what he must eat."

Fairchild has backed off from his original stand on a mid-calf or longer hemline and now defines the "Longue" as anything from the knee down. But women feel the look is an aging one, most men don't like it and the consumer has chosen to put her money in her pants pockets instead. With no such intention, Fairchild has created a boom in the pants business.

However, the consumer hold-out against the midi has hurt business badly. And the reasons behind the resistance are valid.

First there is money. This is no time to feel you must invest in an entire new wardrobe. And the midi can't be worn unless everything that makes it a "look"—boots, belts, bags and jewelry—are purchased, too.

Then there is the question of shopping time. You can't go to a store and pick out a dress. You go one place for a dress or skirt, another for a top, another for footwear, another for a belt. And with luck in two or three days you will have assembled one midi outfit. The people who can afford to shop in the high fashion stores are the main midi militants. Only they can also afford the time to put themselves together.

Add to these disadvantages the granny length, the drab colors, the equivalent of combat boots—a look which Fairchild quite seriously calls "sensual," and you have lost the average woman shopper.

So the battle against the midi is a big one. Organizations have been formed to fight it and a recent New York Times story reported that three of these groups have filed a complaint with the Federal Trade Commission, charging Women's Wear with distorting news stories and staging photographs to coerce the public and the fashion industry into acceding to their "unconscionable demands."

The most accurate proof of who wields the influence in fashion is a walk on the streets. The midi is a definite minority—lost in crowds of pantsuits and, yes, short skirts.

A 5-foot-2 gal just doesn't look her best in a length that makes it seem she is perpetually on her knees. In the fashion area, the consumer presides over the meeting. She wields the influence.

As designer Rudi Gernreich said, "Fashion per se has gone out of fashion."

Nixons Going to Art Exhibit

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—

President and Mrs. Nixon will travel from Washington by helicopter this evening for the opening of an art exhibit at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts.

Mrs. Nixon will unveil three restored paintings—Thomas Sully's "George Frederick Cooke as Richard III," William Bouguereau's "The Choephoraes," and Carl F. Becker's "The First City Troop"—which are among 200 to be shown in the "To Save a Heritage" exhibition. The academy is the oldest art museum in America.

Sew an Easy-care Bedroom

By JOANNE SCHREIBER

Do you dream of a bedroom that's easy to keep picture book-pretty, in spite of kids, pets, city soot and normal wear and tear? It's easy—sew it yourself of easy-care fabrics that can be machine-washed, tumble-dried and whipped back into service the same day.

Here's a bedroom that's as glamorous as any magazine cover but designed for easy sewing and easy maintenance. The secret is the miracle fiber (Fortrel) which is used for the sheer window curtains and blended with cotton for the crisp lemon-and-delphinium print.

Star performer is the quilted bed coverlet. Believe it or not, you can sew it yourself on a straight-stitch sewing machine, to save a very pretty penny over the cost of a store-bought spread.

To make the spread, piece your fabric to the correct size. For length, add one yard to mattress length. For a normal-length bed that's three yards. Lay fabric down center of bed, measure from selvage to desired length on each side and cut strips accordingly. In most cases, you'll be able to get the two side strips from a split length—meaning a total of six yards of 36-inch fabric for a coverlet for a double (54-inch) bed. Get equal yardage of lining and batting.

Mark off top section with chalk or bastings in eight-inch squares. Pin to batting and lining. With No. 16 needle, polyester thread and a long stitch, quilt along marked lines. A triple row of stitching is especially handsome. The batting is so lightweight that you'll be able to roll it tightly as you go, so it will fit under the machine head. At the halfway point, reverse the quilt and work from the other end, so you never have more than half the quilt under the head at one time.

Sew up an easy-care bedroom for this winter's big sewing project. Even a quilted coverlet can be done on a home sewing machine; laminated window shades and sheer pouf draperies add up to a handsome window treatment; the chair takes a classic tailored slip-cover. Fabrics of Fortrel insure easy care.

Finish with self bias binding.

The unusual window treatment is easy care, too. The fabric is laminated to the shades simply by ironing the material to the pre-heated shade cloth. Don't try to dunk the shades; keep them fresh by frequent vacuuming with the soft vacuum brush and occasional wiping with a damp sponge.

Both the under curtains of deep delphinium blue and the poufed overcurtains of pale aqua are sheer. The poufed valance is made by simply joining the long edges of folded strips of fabric and stitching a casing in the seam edge. Don't press. To make the poufed effect in the overcurtains, just tie with tasseled cords. Lift and pin the lower section to the other curtain and fluff out the pouf. Untie to launder.

Admittedly, it's a good winter's project to quilt a spread, make a slipcover and create a window treatment. But once it's made, you're home free. No dry-cleaning bills, no ironing—just seasonal whirls through the washer and plenty of time to relax and enjoy your handiwork.

Bob Hope Plans Service Tour

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This year's Christmas tour for U.S. servicemen abroad will be No. 20 for comedian Bob Hope.

Hope and his company plan to leave Dec. 14 for a two-week swing which will include stops in England, West Germany, the U.S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean, Thailand, South Vietnam, Korea and Alaska, a spokesman said Monday.

GI Drug Abuse Investigation Underway

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special Senate subcommittee opened a new probe of GI drug abuse today that will include a hard look at one of the most abused intoxicants of all—alcohol.

Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, said in a hearing-opening statement the over-all drug problem, including drinking, may be so serious as to threaten national security.

The same allegation has been raised by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., in GI drug abuse hearings before his juvenile delinquency subcommittee. Pentagon officials concede drugs are a problem but generally deny that the nation's defenses are impaired as a result.

The Hughes probe comes at a time when interest in the problem has been rekindled by a dramatic television newsfilm sequence last week depicting a squad of U.S. soldiers in Vietnam smoking marijuana.

Hughes, who licked a drinking problem of his own, heads the new inquiry as chairman of the special subcommittee on narcotics and alcoholism.

He made clear he considers the abuse of alcohol in the same league with the abuse of marijuana or hard drugs.

Hughes said the purpose of the inquiry is to generate possible solutions, not publicity. "Our objectives are to determine the dimension and nature of the drug problem in the armed services," he added.

He said staff members have visited Vietnam, toured Army and Air Force bases in Thailand, talked to men along the demilitarized zone in Korea and checked on the situation with psychologists, psychiatrists and social workers.

The senator said the growing number of men in uniform using drugs represent a problem inseparably linked to drug use in civilian life.

Lively Leg Up on Fashion

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The new lowdown on hemlines is not a blast from the dreary past. If you know how to handle it, it can smack of the modern '70s and mingle easily with minis and pants. And the midi is not the only acceptable length. The woman who knows what is right for her won't wear it unless it does something for her. Even for those who like the longer hemline, it can be part, but need not take over all of their wardrobes.

Never have women had a greater variety of fashion from which to choose. And never before have they had to call upon imagination and fashion sense with such confidence. Correct proportion is the byword.

While word has it that "the leg is dead," women know that's far from true. Legs are alive and kicking. They provide the pivot point around which midis, longuettes, updated minis and asymmetric hemlines turn. Leg fashion plays a leading role. And a provocatively clad leg is far more interesting than blatant leglessness.

Actionware pantyhose of nylon provide miracle comfort and fit for women on the move. They can be misopaque—a wash of color on the leg that creates total harmony from hem to shoe. There is a complete palette of such luscious shades as cadet blue, cocoa cream, even scarlet to co-ordinate with every imaginable color. They are a must for a long, lean look with midis and longuettes. They are a comfortable and cool substitute for the boot.

The mini still has its place in the hemline hop, especially if it's a high climb back to the skirt and matching long vest. The miniskirt is updated by meeting it halfway up with Christian Dior's "signature socks." A subtle Dior signature is etched in the cuff of these knee-high Acrilan and nylon socks, which provide the perfect how-to for short proportioning.

"Pinstripe" pantyhose has no stocking well whatsoever. It's a modern accessory with an old-fashioned look for the woman who wishes to unbutton her midi thigh-high. And

Baptists Plan Convention

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Baptist State Convention will hold its annual convention in Little Rock Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Rev. Tal D. Bonham, convention president, will hold a special "God and Country" Service on the steps of the state Capitol at noon Thursday.

Newport Grant Is Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Bill Alexander, D-Ark., said Monday the Department of Housing and Urban Development has approved a $166,251 grant for municipal improvements at Newport.

Legs are alive and kicking up fashion excitement underneath the hemline highs and lows. Black braid bands the new proportion of an asymmetric skirt that's topped with a skinny sweater and the good looks of a gaucho hat. Actionwear pantyhose draws attention to the strong stance of the midi (left) and pulls the look together with "Tuxedo" from Berkshire. The playful skirt (right) hits a highpoint in fashion lengths. Supporting the high climb, Christian Dior puts a signature on high-rising socks which meet the hemline halfway.

"Tuxedo" stripe pantyhose assures the leg its proper attention by adding sheer drama to an asymmetric ponchoskirt.

From the highs and lows, ups and downs, this season's lively legs are kicking up fashion excitement.

Toys for Young and Old

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — Toyland 1970 will delight kids of any age.

For cherubs from three weeks to eight months old there's the first progressive series of infant toys, programmed by Dr. Burton L. White, director of the Harvard Pre-School Project, to help babies achieve their full potential weeks earlier and develop the habit of being alert, inquisitive and confident. The toys are scientifically positioned precisely to fit the infant's area of vision and reach at different stages of development.

The moon landing has inspired a new category of toys. Orbiting Spaceway for the younger set bases action on a board representing the universe with a 3D hemisphere of earth at one end and space stations at the other. Deflectors determine the orbiting of a fleet of space ships. There's even a corrugated cardboard moon walk for preschoolers.

Speediest wonder in the new toy showings is SSP, Super Sonic Power, the first drag racer scale model to run self-propelled without a track or batteries. SSP, which accelerates after take-off like a full-sized racer, has a power wheel that revs up to 20,000 r.p.m. and achieves 400 scale miles per hour.

Dolls are more nearly human than ever. Peggy Pen Pal, for example, sits at her desk and actually copies anything a youngster draws, sketches or writes—all without batteries. When not performing, Peggy leaves her desk and plays anywhere.

The baby's muscular gyrations are copied more realistically than ever in the doll world. Musical Lullabye Baby fully animates her body when Brahms is played. Baby Goldilocks asks for her bottle and her dog when put in a crib and then coos herself to sleep.

The horoscope vogue has inspired a group of Heavenly Babies with zodiac bracelets. Wigs are in for fashion dolls. And there's a swinging grandma-type with an ultrafashionable hairdo and dress.

Most innovative in the stuffed animal ranks are a mouse delving into a realistic looking hunk of cheese and a "cute" worm emerging from a bright red apple. Spirofoil uses Spirograph-type meshing gears to create extraordinary embossed designs on aluminum foil. There's a Motorized Spirograph, a new precision drawing machine that broadens the scope of designs by setting simple marked adjustments which are easy for children to operate.

A new thrill for the junior cook is Super Easy Bake Oven, which has working oven controls and a second oven for warming. It operates on two electric light bulbs and puts the cake pans through a cooling chamber so eager fingers can't touch anything hot.

An ingenious way to interest youngsters in playing word games with older members of the family is provided by Ad-Lib, which introduces a crossword game in which the 3D letters have no values, eliminating the tensions created by difficult letters such as q and z. Only the squares on the board have numbers.

To win in Globetrotter, a new game based on jet-set travel resorts, a player must be first to complete an entire trip around the world, stopping at famous resorts.

New for sports fans is Rose Bowl Computerized Football, which has a molded analog computer that gives resulting plays as opposing teams prepare programmed moves. And super-heroes are sponsoring a wide variety of games for all ages of family sportsmen.

Joe Namath sponsors an Electric Football game and so does Roman Gabriel, the Rams star. Willis Reed and Walt Frazier of the Knicks have an official Double Dynamite Pro Basketball Game. Phil and Tony Esposito of the Boston Bruins and Chicago Black Hawks respectively sponsor a Battling Brothers Ice Hockey Game.

Toyland '70 doesn't miss a bet. Everyone can play.

Heston Choice of Film Guild

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Screen Actors Guild announced today that Charlton Heston is the overwhelming choice of members for a second term as president of the union.

In ballots counted by a firm of certified accountants, Heston polled 6,348 to 826 for Wilhelm Joerres.

Elected without opposition were John Gavin, first vice president; Whit Bissell, second vice president, and Ricardo Montalban, third vice president.

Raggedy Ann and Andy maintain their traditional whimsical charm in the changing world of toyland (top left). This season they are featured in a variety of sizes. Most innovative in the new arrivals in the stuffed animal sector of toyland are a jaunty worm emerging from a bright red apple and a floppy-eared mouse (top right). Leading candidate for doll of the year honors is Peggy Pen-Pal (lower left). She can copy anything you draw, trace or write on her desk. Baby Go Bye-Bye (lower right) rides about in her own Bumpety Buggy that can be programmed to take any number of directions.

Here's one reason why the cars raced on drag strips by Don Prudhomme and Tom McEwen are called "Funny Cars." The whole body serves as hood for the specially built racers. This one is "The Snake" in which Prudhomme recently won his third NHRA Nationals championship. Millions of youngsters have miniatures of the Funny Cars. Spirofoil, newest addition to the Spirographic arts (lower left) makes it easy for any youngster to draw and paint fascinating raised patterns on aluminum. Aluminum foil is placed in a frame; embossed designs can be created with the Spiro Wheels and Rings provided and the young artist simply holds the ballpoint pen, embosses each pattern and then points the spaces between the raised lines. Rose Bowl Computerized Football (lower right) features an analog computer with which two opposing teams make programmed moves. A computerized game chart is provided.

Sad to Cook for 'Steak-Potatoes' Man

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Julia McWilliams Child first loomed upon the American cooking scene in 1962. Measuring 6-4 or more, depending upon her hairdo, once Mrs. Child appeared she was most difficult to overlook.

Her first major cookbook, "Mastering the Art of French Cooking, Vol. I," came out in 1961 and was gobbled up by cookbook aficionados. But it was not until she dropped her first leg of lamb on the floor in glorious view of thousands watching The French Chef on television a year later that her full grip on United States cooking mores was realized.

Commenting on her place in minds of the beginning cook and the chef de cuisine, Mrs. Child's voice cracks and crumbles occasionally with jests or queries.

"I'm flattered by the very nice reference in newspapers but I don't think I'm a 'cult,'" she said. "I do feel I'm influential but it was not all my doing. I was the right woman in the right program at the right time."

Her explanation is that the Kennedys were in the White House and had a French chef. Restaurants, she pointed out, were becoming more expensive and it was better to eat well at home than to dine out.

Volume I is in more than 700,000 homes. Written with Simone Beck, one of two colleagues in her L'Ecole des Trois Gourmandes in Paris, it reflected France in the 1950s and old traditions of French cooking.

She said Volume II, published recently by Alfred A. Knopf, "like France herself, has stepped into contemporary life."

A Californian who went to Smith College, Mrs. Child did a stint in the advertising department of W. & J. Sloane, N.Y. (home furnishings) and was with the Office of Secret Services during World War II. Few who knew her WIIEN would have imagined her NOW image.

"My interest in cooking started when I got married in my early 30s and began cooking," she said. "Before then, I could make good baking powder biscuits."

She credits her husband, Paul, a photographer, with appreciating good food and being a good critic for her serious interest in food.

"It is sad for a woman who likes to cook to be married to a husband who is a steak and potatoes man," she said.

"I definitely feel it is important to bring children up correctly and not on only hamburgers, franks and TV dinners. Teach them how to eat at the table and to enjoy food and how to prepare it. It is criminal neglect not to do this. It's like bringing them up as peasants. To do this parents are either lazy or insensitive."

Although she and her husband live in the south of France many months each year, she feels there are too many in the United States who think the only good cooking ingredients can be bought in France. "That is 'cult,'" she pointed out.

"If you get to a French chain store or market before 9 a.m., the produce is fine. But I've seen the most wilted lettuce and rotten tomatoes there and often would be happy to go to a cool American supermarket."

Americans, she feels, "misbuy."

"You really can't expect a fresh, tasty ripe tomato in December. A woman who buys in season does very well. Our beef is superior to the French and our lamb and veal are improving."

She also disapproves of the tendency to buy convenience foods "because you don't get the best flavor."

She rates freezing ("and, I guess, instant mashed potatoes and packaging") as a progressive step, but she chides stores for not maintaining frozen food at the

'Long Hair, Manly Chest and Money'

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The fine British hand of Hardy Amies has cropped up all over the fashion lot.

He is Dressmaker to HRH Queen Elizabeth and has an exclusive line of ready-made clothes for women. He designed suits for King George VI and has his own menswear line. In 1967, he became menswear consultant for Genesco. And his collections include everything from topcoats to pajamas to give a man the total Hardy Amies look.

What is the Hardy Amies look?

"Well," said Amies, "I believe a man should look as though he had bought his clothes with intelligence, put them on with care and then forgotten all about them." The slim, six-foot designer looks that way himself.

Hardy views the slow change over the years in men's fashions with wry amusement.

"That great elephant ballet called the men's apparel industry," he quipped.

"But the peacock revolution is under way now. And it has only just begun."

As he paced between the terrace and living room of his New York apartment, he talked animatedly about the changes to come.

"It began a few years ago with the question, 'Can I wear a pink shirt?' Now the question is, 'Am I going to wear a shirt at all?' And there are shirt suits that make a shirt an unnecessary encumbrance."

We are reaching the stage where everything goes in fashion, Hardy feels:

"Undress if you want to, dress if you want to. All that matters is how the waistline and torso look."

"Any mistake a chap makes in his choice of clothes would look less like a mistake if he had been at the gym more often."

A drastic change in a man's attitude toward what he wears or leaves off, according to Amies, is imminent.

"All one needs now to join the 'peacocks,'" he said, "is long hair, a hot comb, a manly chest and money."

However, Hardy Amies designs clothes, not hot combs, and so one would assume he might take a dim view of the trend toward "undressing."

His current collection includes a group of business suits in bold woven-geometric fabrics and sporting ideas in suede and leather.

His accessories reflect the trend toward mixing patterns with shirts in jacquards and ties in solid-color silks. The outerwear features fur collars combined with woven worsteds in mid-length topcoats.

There's not a hot comb or a long hairpiece in the line. And Amies must surely hope every man won't decide to bare his manly chest. What about his marvelous line of ties and shirts?

Since Hardy was a wom-

Syria Wants in Arab Federation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Syria's new government wants to join the Arab federation planned by Egypt, Libya, and Sudan.

Radio Damascus reported its leader, Gen. Hafez Assad, said the planned federation has "re-kindled the hopes of the Arab masses in an early Arab unity." Assad's government will do all in its power for acceptance, the broadcast said.

Assad, Syria's defense minister and the leader of the ruling Baath Socialist party's military wing, on Friday ousted President Nouruddin Atassi and arrested Atassi and Maj. Gen. Salah Jadid. A coup by the army preceded Syria's withdrawal in September 1961 from the United Arab Republic, the effort by the late President Gamal Abdel Nasser to unify the Arab nations. At its height, the alliance included only Syria, Egypt and Yemen, and Nasser broke it up after Syria withdrew.

Assad announced Monday he had formed a provisional Baath command to rule until a party congress selects a new permanent leadership. His government will form a coalition with other leftist political organizations in Syria, he said, and there were reports that pro-Egyptian parties, banned under Jadid would be asked to join the coalition.

Diplomats in Beirut reported that Assad is beginning a purge of the ousted regime's supporters. A Beirut newspaper reported that 70 politicians and army officers have asked asylum in Lebanon.

Pro-Egyptian newspapers in Beirut predicted that Assad's administration would end Syria's persistent rejection of a peaceful settlement with Israel, but Assad said Monday night the U.S.-sponsored plan for indirect peace talks with U.N. envoy Gunnar Jarring as the go-between is a surrender." Observers believed that the statement was politically obligatory to keep Jadid's followers in line.

Sea Creature Was Only a Basking Shark

SCITUATE, Mass. (AP) — The remains of a giant sea creature which washed ashore near here and for a time defied classification were identified tentatively today by an oceanographic expert as those of a basking shark.

Thousands of spectators lined rocky Mann Hill beach Sunday after the creature rolled to the shore on a high tide and touched off reports that the remains of a sea serpent had been found.

Andrew Konnerth, a research associate at Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute, said after an inspection today that the creature was a basking shark, largest of the Atlantic sharks.

A spokesman for the institute said the basking shark feeds on small plankton and small fish and has not been known to attack man unless endangered. They attain a length of 40 feet.

The creature which washed ashore was 28 feet long, although observers said its tail appeared to have been cut off and that its actual length could have been as much as 40 feet.

One of the first experts to examine the carcass was Donald M. DeHart, executive director of the New England Aquarium at Boston. He said he did not know what it was, but that it was not a whale.

He called it a "very wierd animal."

"It is 32 to 34 feet in length and has a girth of at least 10 feet. The major portion of the body is about two feet high and it has a cartilage structure," he said.

"It looks like it has a five-foot head or neck," DeHart said, "but the lower jaw is missing so you can't tell what the structure of the animal is."

Without the jaw, he said, it looks "like some sort of prehistoric animal or sea serpent."

A crowd estimated by police at 10,000 flocked to the beach early today as news of the grisly discovery was circulated.

Whales of various dimension have washed ashore frequently along the South Shore of Massachusetts in the past, some not far from the Mann Hill beach where this one came to rest.

A number of "sea serpents" have been sighted off the Massachusetts coast by seafarer's, according to ships' logs and other records.

One reported off Gloucester and Manchester in July 1964 was said to be 70 feet long and, according to David Fortier, mate of a fishing charter boat, looked like a cross between a camel and a snake.

In May of the same year, a crewman aboard the fishing boat Bruce C, returning to New Bedford from the Georges Banks, saw a monster swimming within 50 feet of the boat. Crewman Bjorne Haugen said it had a hole in its head and ridges down a 50-foot-long body.

Neither sighting approached the colorful description of Nantucket Island's legendary serpent which, if it is still lurking about, must be at least 150 years old.

An armada of cabin cruisers under the command of C. Rollins Manville set out in 1937 after a sighting of what may have been that apparition.

Contraception Ban Absolute, Pope Affirms

By PATRICK O'KEEFE

Associated Press Writer
ROME (AP) — Pope Paul VI firmly restated today the Roman Catholic Church's absolute ban on artificial contraception.

But he called for social progress which he said could lead to "rational control of birth" by couples exercising free choice.

In a hard-hitting speech to the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization here, the Pope also deplored racism, "exaggerated nationalism ... the lust for unlimited power, the unbridled thirst for domination."

He also warned against an
"ecological catastrophe," called on rich countries to divert spending from arms to aiding the poor, and issued another call for Communist China's entry in the United Nations.

Speaking of poverty, he said:
"... There is a great temptation to use one's authority to diminish the number of guests rather than to multiply the bread that is to be shared."

He said he was aware of opinions in international organizations, including FAO, "which ex-toll planned birth control which, it is believed, will bring a radical solution to the problems of developing countries."

FAO officials appraised the pontiff's speech as an affirmation of what they called the chief issue dividing the Vatican and the U.N. agency—birth control means—rather than an attempt to influence FAO.

FAO publicly supports artificial means, the Pope only natural means—the rhythm method.

The Pope's call for technological and social progress appeared to reaffirm his urging to scientists in his birth control encyclical, "Humanae Vitae," to develop a birth control method of which the Church could approve.

The Pope spoke on the occasion of the 25th anniversary of the Rome-based FAO, the U.N.'s largest specialized agency.

Quoting his 1967 encyclical
Populorum Progressio, he told
FAO that when so many people are hungry, destitute and
"steeped in ignorance ... all expenditures prompted by motives of national or personal ostentation, every debilitating armaments race, becomes an intolerable scandal."

He cited Dr. Normal Borlaug, the American Scientist who won this year's Nobel Peace Prize for his agricultural work, and said: "If all men of good will"
would work together for peace,
"the tragic temptation to resort to violence could then be overcome."

The conference commemorated the 25th anniversary of FAO, the largest specialized agency of the United Nations. The Pope delivered his speech in person, speaking in French, to the delegates in the plenary hall of FAO's headquarters, which Mussolini built for his colonial ministry.

In a new papal theme, he pleaded for steps to curb pollution of "the air we breathe, the water we drink" and for the prevention of a veritable ecological catastrophe.
